'GANGSTERS IN GARAGE FRAUD'

Jet station owner says eastern Europeans behind credit card scam

EXCLUSIVE by AARON MOON
amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

The owner of a petrol station at the centre of an international credit card cloning scam has claimed an eastern European gangsters are behind the thefts.

Vijay Agni owns the Jet petrol station in Kingston Road, Ewell, where customers have claimed thousands of pounds have been stolen directly from their accounts in a global fraud.

Mr Agni, 53, who has owned the garage for three years, said he was furious at the gangsters who had made his life a misery. He said people would only now pay with cash, for fear of having their cards cloned.

"I wish capital punishment could be brought back for these people. If I could catch them I would string them up," he said.

"They're eastern European. It's organised crime. It's giving us a bad reputation and understandably so. A lot of our customers who have been affected have come in and asked me what's going on and I've sat down and explained it to them. They're continuing to come in but just pay with cash which is fine with me."

Mr Agni said the criminals, who could have links with Russian mafia, parked up nearby and used a laptop with a wireless router to glean all of the information they needed as customers innocently used the chip and pin machines. The gangs then auctioned off the details and sold them to the highest bidder, resulting in details being sold all around the world.

"We're so wary now, we're watching people like a hawk," Mr Agni said. "My staff check the premises every day. It affects the morale of the staff and that's a big worry."

"If people are sat on our forecourt for longer than a minute we ask them what they're doing. We've had some genuine people who have been offended by it but once we told them what we're doing they were fine. "It makes me suspicious of everyone though. These people are using advanced technology."

"The Chinese Triads use something similar with mobile phones. It's quite worrying."

Mr Agni said his staff regularly scanned the busy forecourt, which sells 100,000 litres of fuel a week, to check no devices had been planted. "Other garages in the area have also been affected. It's not just us," he added.

Thousands lost in card fraud as Jet station hit

by AARON MOON
amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

Thousands of pounds have been stolen from the accounts of customers who have used the Jet garage, Kingston Road, Ewell. Ashleigh Finnegan from Ewell had her details stolen while at the garage and had money taken from her account from a country she had never heard of. "I got my credit card statement and saw there were two transactions for £118 each," she said. "I didn't even recognise the currency or what country it was from." Carol Robinson, who works locally and regularly uses the garage, had a lucky escape when her bank became suspicious of a transaction and suspended her account.

"I had a call from my bank saying that someone had been trying to get £3,700 on three occasions," she said. "They asked if I had the card with me, which I did. So they closed my account and told me to destroy my card."

David Pickett, from Worcester Park, had more than £2,000 stolen from his account over a total of 10 transactions.

"It seems the banks are content to sit back and take the hit because they do not want to accept that the new improved recipe 'chip and pin' technology is indeed very fallible," he said.

Jean Riall-Lucas, another victim, has currently stopped using her card as a result of losing more than £900. Instead, she is using cash.

"My card company's security department contacted me because I never withdraw cash with that card and obviously it was being done in Canada so they became suspicious."

"I felt horrible, I didn't know at first where I could have had my details stolen from, it was a horrible feeling. I had to fill in a form

SCAMBANK dodgy Card

Credit and debit cards are at particular risk from an illegal process known as "skimming".

This is common in restaurants or bars where a member of staff takes the victim's card away under the guise they are taking it to the till. Instead they swipe it through a concealed device which copies and stores the details, including the security card number. The skimmer can then return the card without the victim knowing their details have been stolen and can then sell the details on to the highest bidder.

On occasions, the perpetrator has also tampered with cash machines, by attaching a device across it which can read the magnetic strip of a card and fitted a pinhole camera to capture the victim's PIN as they punch it in.

However, Mr Agni, owner of the Jet garage claims that his garage has been hit by a gang with worrying advanced technology.

The gang use a laptop and a wireless router to gain the card information when it has been placed into the chip and pin card reader. They can then sell these details on and make their escape weeks before the victim has realised what has happened.

Amounts withdrawn across the world with data stolen from Jet station customers in case it goes to court, but I think that's unlikely to happen. How on Earth do they catch these people?"

Sarah Timms was contacted by her bank when a fraudster attempted to withdraw £39 at a shop in Lahore. "The bank didn't authorise it," she said.

"But unfortunately the card was then used to withdraw £200 at a commerce store in the same city and this came through on my statement. Luckily I got this was refunded immediately. Everyone I speak to seems to have had trouble themselves or knows of someone who has. It's affecting everyone in some way."

Jimmy White blames himself for most recent car damage

Snooker legend Jimmy White's car has been vandalised but he bizarrely claimed the damage was not caused by yobs but by himself.

The 46-year-old Epsom resident made the astonishing claim to our reporter when we informed him of the damage to his Mercedes car earlier this week. As well as a smashed rear window, the top-of-the-range Mercedes had been scratched the whole length of the vehicle.

Speaking just yards from his gated home on Tuesday, Jimmy was surveying the damage as he waited for someone to repair it.

"I did it," he told our reporter. "I did it on Saturday. My driver left his keys and passport inside and we needed to get inside. Autoglass are on the way to fix it. They said I should have smashed through the front windscreen because it's easier to replace."

He added that the scratch to his car, which is often referred to as "keying" when vandals drag a key along a car, was simply wear and tear. "That's the car that we travel in so it does get damaged sometimes. It is nothing to do with the window," he said.

Two years ago the six-times world championship runner-up narrowly cheated death when his Aston Martin DB9 exploded in a fireball.

And in February this year, the divorced dad-of-five called in police after it emerged the brakes and suspension on his £120,000 Bentley had been sabotaged.

But he denied to our reporter that this had been the case and bizarrely shifted the blame to rats.

"We had forensic work done on the brakes and it turns out it was rodents that had cut through the brakes," he said. "They had eaten through the cable which was a relief for us because I was getting a bit worried."

Potting the black: Jimmy White's damaged Mercedes

'Terrifying ordeal' for pedestrian

A woman pedestrian was subjected to a terrifying sexual assault in broad daylight when a van driver pulled up alongside her and grabbed her.

The 27-year-old victim was walking along Cheam Road, close to Howell Hill Grove, Ewell when the van driver stopped and moved to the passenger side of the vehicle.

He opened the door, grabbed hold of her wrists and sexually assaulted her.

The victim pulled away from him and he got back into the van. She walked off but the van pulled up beside her again. This time the man said he could pay and threw some money at her.

Police are appealing for witnesses to the incident which happened at about 2pm last Thursday, June 26, to come forward.

The suspect is described as a black man, aged in his late 40s, tall and of muscular build, brown hair but balding, a round face with chubby cheeks. He spoke with a Jamaican accent and was wearing black combat trousers and a Navy blue T-shirt.

Detective Constable Ian Moody said: "This was a nasty incident which has traumatised the victim. She was walking alone at the time of the assault and was subjected to a terrifying ordeal.

"Fortunately she was not seriously injured but it is clear we need to identify and arrest this man in order to prevent him from committing further offences.

"Crimes of this nature are rare in Epsom and I am determined to track down this man.

"This incident is very concerning to us and I am appealing to anyone who believes they may have any information which could help my team make an arrest to please get in touch as soon as possible."

Reunited: Margaret Dyson with Alice, the doll found by Edith Barratt

Doll brings back sad memories of the war

It was feared lost amid the wreckage of a house which had been struck by a plane in World War II.

But an incredible 63 years later, Alice, a much-loved, albeit very much bedraggled doll, was finally re-united with its original owner.

The hairless, eyeless doll, which is also missing an arm, was returned to 75-year-old Margaret Dyson on Saturday thanks to detective work by the Epsom and Ewell Local and Family History Centre.

In February 1945, an experimental aircraft crashed on 14 Ruxley Lane, Ewell, after the pilot was forced to bale out.

It demolished the house and killed the owner Anne Swan, and her neighbour.

Fortunately none of the rest of Anne's family was at home - her husband was serving in the forces,

by HELEN CRANE

hcrane@london.newsquest.co.uk

her son Alan was at school and her daughter Margaret (now Dyson) was an evacuee in Scotland.

Shortly after the crash, Edith Barratt walked past the ruins of the house and saw the doll on top of the rubbish.

The poignant image so touched Edith Barratt that she took the doll home with her, but without any real idea what she would do with it.

In 2007, Peter Barratt, Edith's son, was surfing the web and saw a story about the Ruxley Lane air crash on the Epsom and Ewell Local and Family History Centre website and made contact with the centre.

The Epsom Guardian published the story of the plane crash and a young relative of Margaret Dyson, who was delivering the paper spotted the dramatic tale.

It led to a very special occasion on Saturday at Bourne Hall when Alice was handed back to Mrs Dyson by Edith Barratt, who will be 90-years-old next month, and the Mayor of Epsom and Ewell Councillor Alan Winkworth.

"The poor doll wasn't a pretty sight but the fact that some dear lady had kept her for 63 years is what touched me, that she wanted to get it back to its rightful owner. I felt quite overcome," said Mrs Dyson.

"It brought back sad memories of a very hard time. We had thought we had got through the war - it was 1945 but it wasn't to be."

Alice has one more adventure in front of her - a visit to a dolls' hospital for some restoration work.

Park bleach attacker: 'Enough was enough'

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

A furious woman who threw a 16-year-old girl to the ground and sprayed her boozy friends with bleach has spoken out about the attack for the first time.

The 53-year-old woman, who wants to remain anonymous, admitted she was sorry she had hurt the 16-year-old girl in the incident in Rosebery Park on May 9.

But she said the huge amount of noise the students were making caused her to react after seven years of disruption.

She said: "At night over the last seven years, we've been kept awake until 3am by young people in the park. They've been dealing drugs, riding scooters in the park and having sex, and vandalising the swings. We hear it all.

"People have sex in the bushes yards from our house. They leave discarded underwear on the benches. It's been hell on earth and we think enough is enough.

"They're probably middle class kids but when they're out with their male friends, they make a huge amount of noise, keeping us awake all night. But their parents don't know they're doing anything wrong because when they go home, they're as quiet as mice.

"I went out, got hold of one of the girls and floored her. I took an empty bleach bottle and I filled it with water to scare them."

The woman, who has now made the decision to move as a result of the constant disruption, said she was stunned when police turned up and arrested her.

"It is the first time I've been in trouble with police. I was shocked when they arrested me, because the students making all the noise had obviously gone home and said they hadn't done anything wrong.

"Perhaps they were just there at the wrong time. I don't know if they're regulars. I can't even go out now and tell them off because I'm scared.

"The people writing into the paper against me haven't got to live with this stuff all summer."

Blood donor is rewarded

Richard Smith could have completely emptied his body of blood almost 10 times over but fortunately the National Blood Service only takes a small amount at a time and the body quickly makes it up again.

Richard, from Hazon Way, Epsom, has been awarded a crystal plate to acknowledge his 78 blood donations.

He was one of 181 dedicated blood donors to attend a special awards ceremony at the New Connaught Rooms in London recently. Between them, they had given 14,650 pints (8,321 litres) of blood. Some 43 of the donors had given blood more than 100 times.

The guest speaker was Julie Henderson, who received blood after an emergency caesarian-section. She told the audience how blood donors had saved her life.

Award: Richard Smith with Julie Henderson, who needed a blood transfusion following the birth of her daughter

The next blood donor sessions are at Bourne Hall, Ewell, on Thursday, July 10, from 2pm to 4.30pm and 5.30pm to 8pm, and at the United Reformed Church, Church Street, Epsom on Tuesday, July 22, from 2pm to 4.30pm and from 5.30pm to 8pm.

PM's low-key visit to foil Epsom protests

Prime Minister Gordon Brown and Lord Ara Darzi, the health minister, made a low-key visit to Leatherhead Community Hospital on Monday, to avoid protests about health cuts.

They talked to patients and staff as they celebrated the 60th anniversary of the NHS and highlighted the changes to develop healthcare in the future.

But the visit was not given prior publicity for fear of attracting campaigners outraged that people in Leatherhead could be about to lose easy access to maternity and paediatric care if Epsom General Hospital is downgraded.

As he walked round the community hospital in Poplar Road, Mr Brown said that healthcare was "a moral right secured for all".

He said: "We need a more personalised NHS response to each of us as individuals, focused on prevention, better equipped to keep us healthy and capable of giving us real control and real choice over our care and our lives."

His visit was to launch Lord Darzi's review of the NHS which outlines nationwide plans for the future. These include giving patients more information and choice, improving standards, making effective drugs available to all patients and giving patients the legal right to choose any healthcare provider.

The review includes plans to support family doctors, community

Visit: Gordon Brown talked to patients and staff in Leatherhead nurses, hospitals and local authorities to work together and to enable frontline staff to initiate and lead change that improves quality of care for patients.

The plans include improved care and support for people with chronic illnesses and an emphasis on preventative care.

Leatherhead was chosen because it is run by Central Surrey Health, a social enterprise company, the first of its kind in the UK which employs nurses and therapists formerly employed by the health authority.

Ironically, it will be one of the areas where pregnant women and families will find their choice of healthcare limited if a scheme goes ahead which could remove full maternity and inpatient paediatric care from Epsom.

It comes in a week when consultants in women and children's services at Epsom General Hospital prepared a detailed document which claims that maintaining services at Epsom and St Helier hospitals is possible.

Geoff Martin, head of campaigns for Health Emergency, said: "Someone ought to have briefed Gordon Brown that people in Leatherhead are not particularly enamoured of Government health policy because they are about to lose their frontline services."

NEWSbrief

DROP IN FIRES: Smoking-related fires have dropped from 14 each year to seven in the year since the no-smoking ban was introduced, according to Surrey Fire and Rescue Service. The incidents in Mole Valley have dropped from 11 to eight and in Reigate and Banstead from 21 to 16.

MP ON THE LIST: Epsom's MP Chris Grayling is one of three politicians who have been shortlisted as Politician of the Year in the Public Affairs News Awards 2008. The other nominees are Vince Cable, who was briefly in charge of the Liberal Democrat party and Kenilworth MP Jeremy Wright.

SANDY SCHOOL: St Giles school playground will be turned into a glorious beach on Saturday for a fair with a seaside theme. The fair takes place on Saturday and runs from 12.30pm to 3.30pm at the school in Dene Road, Ashted.

ROAD ACCIDENTS: A man in his 20s was taken to St Helier Hospital on Monday at about 1.55am after a one-vehicle accident on the A217 at Banstead. On Tuesday, a 42-year-old man was taken to Epsom General Hospital after a two-car accident at 8.20pm in Motts Hill Lane, Walton-on-the-Hill. At 11.25pm on the same day a woman in her 20s was taken to Epsom General Hospital after a motorcycle accident in Castle Avenue, Ewell.

Teacher dies on way to festival

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

A promising young teacher has died on her way to the Glastonbury festival, just days before she was due to start her first teaching job at Heathside School, Weybridge.

Claire Cordon, 26, from Epsom, was with her fiancé and a friend when she lost control of her car and hit a lorry on the A303 near Warminster last Wednesday.

The trip celebrated the completion of her post-graduate teaching course at St Mary's University, Twickenham. She had trained to teach geography and was eagerly anticipating starting her new job at the Weybridge secondary school.

Her friend Gemma Parker, a Kingston University student, was a passenger in the car and suffered serious injuries.

Miss Parker, who had just completed a teacher training course in business studies, was released from Salisbury Hospital earlier this week but is still said to be distraught about her experience.

Miss Cordon and fiancé Richard Paterson were due to get married in August and had recently bought their first home together in Epsom.

Mr Paterson, 27, a geoscientist for an oil company, was still in intensive care in Salisbury Hospital as we went to press, but his condition was said to be improving.

Friends unaware of Miss Cordon's death had left him messages on social networking site Facebook asking him about plans for his stag do.

Police in Salisbury have been investigating the collision, which happened when Miss Cordon lost control of her Peuggeot, hit a HGV in front, and then spun in the road before being hit by another HGV at 9.10am. Miss Cordon was trapped and had to be cut out by fire fighters and air lifted to Salisbury Hospital, where she died shortly after.

St Mary's University College paid tribute to Miss Cordon and is expected to let her graduate posthumously later this month. A spokesman said: "Prayers were said for Claire as soon as we heard the news and we can only assure her family, friends and loved ones of our thoughts and deepest sympathy."

Sadly missed: Claire Cordon

Cuts in police numbers as purse strings tightened

Epsom can expect cuts in the number of police officers on the street after a Government decision to restrict Surrey's spending on its police over the next three years.

While the police budget increased by 6 per cent for the financial year 2008/9 tax payers faced a rise in the police precept of 9.7 per cent to make up for the lack of funding from the Government.

The local government minister John Healey announced last week he would cap the three-year policing budget for Surrey by "nominating" the authority.

It means that the Government, while allowing this year's police budget to stand, will impose spending reductions in following years.

Peter Williams, chairman of Surrey Police Authority, said: "We are concerned about the possible impact of longer term restrictions. This is a serious issue and we will carefully consider what the full impact of the decision is before responding. We are, however, pleased that the Government has now ruled out the possibility of an expensive and counterproductive process of re-billing in Surrey."

Mark Rowley, temporary Chief Constable of Surrey Police said: "We now have

£1.9m less than we had planned. This will have significant operational implications."

Crispin Blunt, MP for Banstead and Reigate said: "The blame for the crisis in Surrey's police funding must be squarely laid at the Government's door. Surrey has the most efficient police force in the country despite the unique challenges it faces. Surrey also pays out a huge amount to central funding in taxation. Yet the Government is still content to force cuts on the force."

"On this occasion they have even undermined the principle that Surrey taxpayers can choose to use local resources to fund their own force."

The Government decided to cap the budget in a determined attempt to keep rises in council tax under control.

Benefit fraudster fined

A 60-year-old woman who had savings of more than £30,000 has been fined £450, with £100 costs, for fraudulently claiming more than £2,000 in benefits.

Glenda Joyce Milner, from Boxhill Road, Tadworth, was prosecuted by Mole Valley District Council for claiming two years of benefits to which she was not entitled.

She admitted the offence when she appeared at Redhill Magistrates court on Friday, June 27.

The court heard that she was paid the benefits after telling the council that she had one bank account and no significant savings.

Sign of the dry times: Rangers and firefighters spread the word

Signing on

Firefighters and rangers have been working together this week in a bid to protect Epsom's green spaces from wildfire.

Every year, acres of Surrey countryside are lost to intense infernos, often started from barbecues which had not been extinguished properly or dropped cigarettes.

In an effort to remind visitors to take extra care, warning signs have been put up across Horton County Park, the Hogsmill and Epsom Common.

Surrey Fire and Rescue Service has also invested in special off-road equipment to use alongside new wildfire firefighting tactics should a fire break out.

Brian Ashwood, blue watch manager, said: "Wildfire can spread in a matter of minutes given the right conditions, destroying green open space."

FA bans U8 leagues

by AARON MOON

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

Children under the age of eight have been banned from playing in football leagues amid fears that the pressure is too great.

The budding footballers will still be able to play each week but no points will be awarded for wins or drawn games and the divisions will be renamed as sections.

The change of rules, which have been introduced by the Football Association and come into force from September, will affect more than 500 young players under eight across Epsom.

David Goldsmith, chairman of Epsom and Ewell Youth League admitted that some parents were unhappy with the decision but said that he was powerless to change it.

"Whether I think it's right or not is irrelevant because we have to do what we're told," he said. "The kids themselves won't suffer from lack of football. The only thing they won't be able to see is the league tables.

"People need to get away from the word competitive. Every game of football is competitive regardless of points and league tables.

"But there is a strong body of opinion that this may be the wrong move. The immediate reaction was that it seemed daft and some said 'no wonder the England team is like it is when rules like this are brought in', but who knows how they will view it in a year's time.

"Those people will find ways of getting round it. It's in the spirit of the game. Managers will phone up other managers and ask them how they got on at the weekend and I have no problem with that."

Mr Goldsmith said there were concerns the rules could affect the players when they progressed up to the under nine's league – which the ban does not affect.

He said: "It is important, as far as the league is concerned, for the following season to find out how the teams are doing because when they go to under nine's they need to be put in the right division against teams that are similar to them."

An FA spokesman said: "This is about creating an environment where the children can learn and develop their skills and enjoy the game without the pressure of having to get a result. They can start taking it a little more seriously as they get older."

Going for gold

Competing: Jennifer Goldsack, right, and her partner Renee Hykel

Triumphant Jennifer Goldsack is heading for the Olympic Games this summer and, she hopes, a gold medal.

Jennifer, 25, from Banstead, together with her partner Renee Hykel, will be competing in the lightweight women's double sculls event for the USA.

The former Oxford women's rugby blue qualifies to row for the USA because her mother Pamela Goldsack is American.

Jennifer and her partner Renee Hykel earned their trip to the Olympics when they came second in the last Olympic qualifying race in Poznan, Poland, on June 18. Only the crews of two boats earned their places at Beijing.

After her triumphant race in Poland, Jennifer returned to her home in Garratts Lane for a very short rest before returning to Princeton, New Jersey, for the final training sessions to prepare for the high spot of her rowing career this summer.

Living in fear after attack

EXCLUSIVE

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

A sports therapist who was permanently scarred after a brutal racist attack at a millionaire's party revealed he now lives his life in constant fear.

Sanjeev Subramaniam, 41, was attacked at a posh 18th birthday party in Kingswood near Epsom, after a baying mob turned on him.

This week 19-year-old Nicky Chequer was found guilty of grievous bodily harm after plunging a broken glass into the side of Mr Subramaniam's face at the party for Cydney Chopping, the daughter of millionaire Marc Chopping.

Mr Subramaniam, a father-of-three from Sutton, now has a vicious-looking scar running down the right side of his face and he is still reliving the nightmare of the night he was injured in April last year.

Speaking to the Epsom Guardian after the verdict, the father-of-three said that the brutal attack had changed his life forever.

He said: "It's just one of those things where I'm always looking over my shoulder and because the guy came from behind it does make me nervous now."

"It makes me more wary. I suppose it's natural, I guess. I get invited to functions but I don't go that often now. I don't want to be out there in case something happens.

"When I found out it was a guilty verdict I surprisingly felt nothing, I knew he was guilty. If I had been told he had been found not guilty then that would be interesting to see whether I reacted differently but obviously I can't say whether I would."

Mr Subramaniam had only been helping out a friend by working as part of the catering team at the party when the violent assault took place.

As he went to help a guest who was being attacked, a group of men immediately turned on him and it was then that Chequer from Mitcham hit him with the glass.

Marc Chopping had been inciting the guests by making racist comments all night.

The case originally made headlines when it was revealed that police only contacted Mr Subramaniam to take a statement two months after the attack when he complained to Paul Burstow, MP for Sutton and Cheam.

He told the court last week that just minutes after the incident a police officer had said to him "if you want to leave it at that mate, you can leave it at that".

Mr Subramaniam said: "I wasn't surprised by what he said because I've been abused by the police before.

"I asked a police officer when I was 14-years-old with a German exchange student in London if we could have our picture taken with him and he leant in my face and said "f off".

"After the attack, all my white friends said the police would chase the attack up. All my black and Asian friends said they wouldn't do anything. So you can see the divide. They all base it on their own experiences.

"There's a lot of negative feeling towards the police in general, especially at the grass roots level. You have to make a fuss to get something done but you shouldn't have to do that.

"I get stopped by the police all the time. I carry a massage table in my car for work and it's clearly a massage table but in the past police have pulled me over, seen it and used to ask me if it was a portable sunbed. It's just something you get used to and most people say nothing."

Mr Subramaniam said that police would launch an investigation into the delays after Chequer was sentenced on July 25.

Detective Superintendent Neville Blackwood said:

"Last year I personally, and publicly, apologised to Mr Subramaniam for the unacceptable delay in investigating this assault. As a result of this incident Surrey Police has fundamentally changed its recording procedures to ensure delays such as this do not happen again."

Set for redevelopment: Epsom Magistrates' Court in Edwardian times

End for old institutions?

A controversial planning application to build more than 100 new homes on the site of Parsons Mead School in Ashted has been submitted to Mole Valley District Council.

The plans include preserving part of the school hall for community use and keeping some of the school grounds as public open space.

A public consultation exercise on the proposal will be held at the school in Ottways Lane on Thursday, July 10, from 4pm to 8.30pm.

The magistrates' and county courts in Epsom are to be demolished and replaced with 54 flats and offices if Epsom planners give permission.

Gladdale (South East), the Epsom-based development company, has bought the two adjoining sites in Ashley Road and The Parade to build new homes.

Epsom's county court moved to new premises in East Street at the beginning of the year and the magistrates' court merged with the court at Redhill some years ago.

The old magistrates' court was hired out by the court service to film and television companies to use as a court-room set.

Plans have been submitted to Epsom and Ewell Council by North Downs Property Partnership to demolish a car showroom at 138 Ruxley Lane, West Ewell and build 41 homes including 16 affordable units in a three-storey building on the site.

Woolworths shut after store robbed by gang

Staff at a North Cheam branch of Woolworths were left shaken on ???after it was robbed by three men.

Police say three men entered the London Road store at about 9.30am and demanded money from frightened cashiers. The men, who were not believed to be carrying weapons, fled with the cash.

Officers closed the store for a short time while they investigated the crime scene.

OAP back in jail for lewd act on busy bus

A 70-year-old serial flasher has been jailed for the second time this year, after admitting to exposing and fondling himself in public.

by COURT REPORTER
newsdesk@suttonguardian.co.uk

Sutton High Street, near Matalan. Mr Capon said a bus driver saw Glickberg expose himself. "When he got on the bus the driver told him to cover himself up, which he did," he said. "But he started playing with himself - there were about 20 passengers on the bus. "Four hours later, the same bus driver saw him again playing with himself. There were children in the area." The bus driver flagged down a passing police car and Glickberg was arrested. When interviewed at the police station, Glickberg said he felt disappointed if he didn't arouse a reaction from witnesses. Glickberg told the court he felt hard done by. "I have asked for help and it has not been given," he said. But Judge Warwick McKinnon rebutted that psychiatric reports had shown there was nothing wrong with him. "He just carries on doing it," he said. It is believed Glickberg had only been released from jail for 11 days before the May 9 incident.

Winning's easy PC for pupils

Schoolchildren had their first brush with the law on Monday, in a netball grudge match against Sutton Police.

Year 6 students from Cheam High School for Girls did their best against the seasoned officers. But Team Police managed some superior ball skills - winning 7-4.

The teachers' team put up more of a fight, drawing 3-3.

Police warn drinkers not to misbehave

A weekend of violence in Sutton town centre has prompted police to warn drinkers to behave themselves.

Two men were left injured after attacks near the town's nightclubs.

A fight at Revolution nightclub, at about 2.30am on Sunday left one man hospitalised with a broken arm, and cuts and bruising to the head.

A 20-year-old man was arrested for grievous bodily harm and later released on bail.

Police also dealt with another incident on Sunday morning.

They spotted a man with head injuries walking in the High Street near Mosaic nightclub.

A police spokesman said: "Initially the man refused help, but he was finally persuaded by officers to go to hospital by ambulance."

Police would not reveal whether the incidents were alcohol-fuelled, but Sutton licensing sergeant, Deborah Blight, issued a stern warning to residents.

She said: "Police will deal with reports of any drink related antisocial behaviour in a robust manner."

"We want people to enjoy themselves and go out and have a good time, but at the same time we want people to drink responsibly and behave in an appropriate manner."

Sutton and Cheam Liberal Democrat MP Paul Burstow said he believed the police should also come down hard on licensed venues.

He said: "It's not just about taking a robust stance against those who get so drunk and violent, it's taking a tough approach with license holders who think it's all right to sell alcohol to people who get paralytic."

He added police and hospital staff needed to work together to fight antisocial behaviour in the community.

"Our hospitals and police need to start sharing information about the numbers of people who turn up in A&E, because at the moment that information is being lost," Mr Burstow said.

"We're only get a partial picture about what police clear up each week."

"So it would be useful to identify how bad the problem is and how it needs to be fixed."

Baby Bethany needs special £2,000 helmet

Appeal: Joanne Smith with three-month-old Bethany

A desperate mum-of-three is hopeful that readers of the Sutton Guardian will assist her in raising £2,000 for treatment for her daughter, who has squashed skull syndrome, writes Siobhan Lawless.

Three-month-old Bethany suffers from a condition called plagiocephaly, which causes one side of her skull to flatten, affecting the way she holds her head and the position of one of her ears.

Bethany's mother, Joanne Smith, 30, needs £1,950 in order to pay for a specialised helmet not available on the NHS, which can be fitted to correct Bethany's condition.

Mrs Smith said: "It does not sound like a lot of money but it is when you don't have it. Obviously I want the best for my new baby."

The money will pay for head scans, reviews and assessments as well as the fitting of the helmet.

Mrs Smith said it wasn't until about eight weeks after Bethany's birth she noticed the abnormality becoming apparent.

She said: "The doctor told me 'to wait another eight weeks and then they could look again'

"I explained the situation to my health visitor who gave me some exercises to help strengthen her neck."

But the exercises alone are not enough.

Helmets fitted from an early age, usually by six months, are the most successful, as the younger the baby is, the greater the effectiveness of the treatment.

Joanne heard about the syndrome from her sister, who had been babysitting a boy with the same problem.

She carried out further research online and made an appointment at a specialist clinic in Kingston on July 9.

Family members and friends are all fundraising, including Bethany's father Martin, 21. He is waxing his legs for charity and Bethany's eldest sister, Page, aged 11, is doing a sponsored silence at her school.

Friends of the Smiths are preparing hampers for a raffle, alongside a karaoke night at their local pub.

Joanne is also appealing for any donations. Anyone who wishes to assist can contact the Sutton Guardian on 020 8330 9554.

Inmate's throat slashed

A prisoner at High Down prison slashed another inmate's throat with a knife after claiming he had given him a "dirty look".

The victim, who was attacked as he took a shower at the Banstead prison, received serious injuries during the attack.

The attack could have been fatal if he hadn't tried to force his chin down on his chest as the assault took place.

The incident, on Tuesday, June 10, started when the two brushed up against each other in the dining hall and the assailant claimed that his victim had given him "a dirty look".

Shortly afterwards, he launched the attack in the shower room.

Police are now carrying out an investigation into the incident.

This week, a spokesman for the Ministry of Justice said: "A prisoner was taken to an outside hospital from High Down prison following an attack by another prisoner on Tuesday, June 10. He was treated and returned to the establishment the next day."

The prison has a mixed reputation. In May this year, a prisoner serving an eight-month sentence was found hanging in his cell. Two years ago, the prison was condemned for the atmosphere of bullying and intimidation.

The prison's reading group won a national literary prize, beating 160 other groups from around the UK, and the artwork of prisoners is put on display at Bourne Hall in Ewell every year.

Three years ago, the prison's catering manager Al Crisci won a BBC food and farming award for the quality of the catering at the prison.

During a visit to High Down earlier this year, Justice Secretary Jack Straw told reporters that an inmate had told him that life inside was "like a holiday camp" and prisoners should be locked up without access to luxury items such as television.

DIANA PILKINGTON reports on how approaches to mental health care have improved over the years

A change for the better

On July 5, 1948, the new National Health Service was launched, promising free medical, dental and nursing care to everyone, rich or poor.

Founded at a time of post-war hardship, austerity and reconstruction, the inauguration of the NHS was a huge breakthrough in the provision of healthcare for all. But in the field of mental health, some of the ways NHS patients were treated in the early days would surprise and shock us now.

Patients were described as "stupid", "weak-minded", "feeble", "backward", "troublesome" and "unemployable".

Notes were full of opinions and derogatory comments, such as "He smokes too much"; "Wife is a placid full-faced rather stout woman, and spoke as if genuinely attached to patient".

Drugs were mostly ineffective and in some cases dangerous. Injections would be given to keep patients quiet or to induce fits or coma.

Talking therapies, so fashionable now, were mostly restricted to the private practice of a few Freudian-trained analysts. People with learning disabilities were called "simple" and institutionalised without treatment.

The physical health of inmates, as patients were called, was often neglected and as a result they died at an early age.

Now, more than three-quarters of psychiatric patients are treated as outpatients or in the community, but in 1948 the majority were kept in hospital.

The notion of home treatment was confined to the elite.

In the intervening years, the concept of diagnosis has become more sophisticated and internationalised. The International Classification of Diseases, produced by the World Health Organisation, provides precise, operationally-defined definitions of the science and symptoms of mental disorder.

Paradoxically, the number of people referred to mental health services has risen enormously, despite the dramatic fall in the number of beds in psychiatric hospitals from about 100,000 in 1948 to just 28,000 today.

A report by mental health charity Mind shows that six times more people were referred to psychiatric services in an average year in the 1990s as were in 1946, just before the NHS was founded.

But of those who do get admitted to hospital, their length of stay today is measured

Case study one

□ Pre-NHS:
George, 25
Status: Voluntary
Diagnosis: Mania
Treatment: No treatment, just care in Springfield
This patient is described as "euphoric - he is very talkative and has exaggerated ideas. He said it was an ordinary thing for a man to climb a lamppost in the street."

Today:
Dr Al-Yassiri says: "Today this patient would be diagnosed as having bipolar disorder. This is a disorder that causes unusual shifts in a person's mood and energy."

Festive: Springfield Hospital, ward 19, Christmas 1949

Case study two

A pre-NHS case study from Springfield's archives, and what the experts would say about them today

□ Pre-NHS:
Arthur, 14
Status: Voluntary
Diagnosis: Dementia praecox
Treatment: Care in Springfield

Dementia praecox is the old-fashioned name for schizophrenia. This boy had been described by his mother as "different" from other children so was referred for help when he was five.

His parents were told he was simply "spoilt" as he was an only child. On advice, they had another baby. But Arthur's behaviour did not improve. His mother said she was "worn out with the strain of dealing with him".

She sought help because of his "impulsive, aggressive behaviour".

The referring psychiatrist added: "The boy is a danger to both himself and others and since there is little prospect of a cure I am wondering if you would be willing to take steps to have him certified and placed in an institution.

Arthur was admitted to Springfield Mental Hospital's Wing for Idiot Children and discharged 14 months later "after losing his psychotic symptoms".

Today:

Dr Dan Hayes says: "This boy did not have schizophrenia. He almost certainly had an autistic spectrum disorder or Asperger's syndrome."

A holiday in Cheam? You're 'aving a laugh

It is unclear whether tourism chiefs were having a laugh when they compiled the latest guide to holiday destinations around Britain.

But backpackers seeking to shun well-travelled routes and sample the famous British sense of humour are being offered weekend breaks in Cheam.

The suburb has been listed among 150 "funny spots" because 23 Railway Cuttings, East Cheam, was the fictional setting for Hancock's Half Hour.

Slough, the drab location of Ricky Gervais's The Office, and Billericay in Essex, home of Gavin and Stacey, are among other sitcom holidays suggested by VisitBritain as part of ComedyEngland.

The national tourism agency, which last year promoted "set-jetting" tours of film locations, claims that 40 per cent of all visits to Britain are inspired by screen magic.

by DIANA PILKINGTON

dpilkington@london.newsquest.co.uk

This week community leaders in Cheam insisted sightseers would be rewarded by following the unlikely tourist trail. Graham Whitham, the Tory ward councillor, was particularly pleased at the recognition 40 years after the death of the East Cheam sage.

He said: "Tony Hancock, one of the funniest men to draw breath, was a Cheam Conservative – and treasurer of the darts team."

"We're really pleased Cheam has been recognised as a place to visit, especially given its cultural significance."

Laurence Bresh, of VisitBritain, said: "England is renowned for producing some of the best comedy in the world and our sense of humour is a trait we are famous for."

"Comedy is part of our heritage and the ComedyEngland campaign will encourage visitors to explore some of the regions, locations and attractions which have contributed to this and further increase the 100 million trips Brits take in their own country each year."

Tough guy proves a big draw

Best behaviour: Ray Winstone hands out an award at Glenthorne High School

Deadlinepix SU21631

Ray Winstone was famously thrown out of drama school but he was on his best behaviour to visit pupils in Sutton Common last week.

The tough-guy actor came straight from filming his latest movie, 44 Inch Chest, at Elstree Studios to hand out awards at Glenthorne High School last Wednesday night.

More than 600 students and parents packed into the sports hall to catch a glimpse of Winstone, 51, who starred recently in Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull.

How to climb to the top of the search engine tree

Small business owners across Sutton are being invited to a training course to teach them how to get noticed on the web.

Monkey Design House consultants will work with Surrey Chamber of Commerce to reveal the secrets behind ranking higher with web engines.

Organiser Marc Summers said: "Having a website is not good enough if people can't find it."

"Many companies claim they can get small businesses to number one in search engines but charge a lot of money for the privilege."

The next search engine optimisation course – at Kingston University on July 8 – is free for the first 300 companies that register.

Workers lose their stress at the (pillow) fight club

by KEVIN BARNES

kbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

There is no biting, gouging or holding but the newest sporting craze allows overworked City professionals to wield a fearsome pummeling weapon: a queen-sized downy pillow.

White-collar workers in Sutton have been getting plumping over the past few weeks in preparation for their debut in the Ultimate Pillow Fighting League (UPFL).

The competition gives local people the chance to regress to childhood and relieve aggression by knocking 10 bells out of each other in a nightclub setting.

Pillow fighting is already a professional sport among women pugilists in New York and has been a popular stress-busting pastime since Edwardian times.

Its latest incarnation is being used to raise funds for research into ME treatments across the UK. A spokesman for Sutton ME Support Group said: "Informally, Action for ME have christened the initiative the Big Bash.

"It offers a great team-building opportunity, a chance to let off steam and two chances to beat your rivals. No matter how well each team does, the one that raises the most money in each region automatically goes through."

The rules are set out with a precision little short of military on the official UPFL website. Participants, bloodied and feathered, must perch on balancing beams and lash out at least once every 10 seconds.

Georgina Goddard, a spokeswoman, encouraged more teams to settle boardroom disputes by becoming embroiled in organised pillow fights.

"Not only will you have the best three hours of team 'sport' on the planet, but you will also be helping charity," she said.

Competitors first need to raise a £75 deposit to secure their place and another £200 to take part on a scheduled day.

For more details go to ultimatepillowfight.co.uk.

Grow your own to beat obesity, pupils told

Pupils are being encouraged to grow their own food after figures showed one in 10 children in Sutton was obese by the time of starting primary school.

A map of health inequalities produced last week revealed that 11 per cent of pupils in their first year of school in the borough is obese.

The figures were calculated by the Department for Health using the body mass index measurements of children aged six in each local authority.

Sutton exceeded the national rate of obese children (9.9 per cent) but fell far below Hackney which had the highest rate in London (16.1 per cent).

In Epsom, the percentage of children classified as obese is below the England average, although physical activity levels are low.

This week Sutton Council said it was working closely with Sutton and Merton PCT to promote healthier lifestyles among youngsters.

The Beanstalk Project is already under way to help them to create vegetable gardens on local allotments. There is also support at children's centres for breastfeeding to reduce obesity in pre-schoolers.

Councillor Tony Brett Young, executive member for children and learning services, said: "The Health Profiles report shows childhood obesity in Sutton is slightly above the national average, but still below average in London."

"A working party has been established in Sutton to look at increasing the target of 2 hours' minimum physical activity per week in our schools to 5 hours by 2010."

Experts predict that 60 per cent of men and one quarter of children will be obese by 2050 unless action is taken to reverse current trends.

The inequalities map was created so that health workers can work to solve problems.

It shows that a quarter of adults in Sutton smoke, one in 10 is physically active and the average life expectancy is 78 years for women and 82 years for men.

Is karate the way to tackle youth violence?

Children from all over the Borough are getting into the swing of karate.

Hundreds are flocking to the Sutton Martial Arts classes, managed by 75-year-old owner Sydney Lockless.

At the start of each term, Mr Lockless said he made sure he offered new students the first five weeks free of charge.

"I've been offering the free classes for the past last two years out of my own pocket - because I honestly do believe if all children did karate, we wouldn't have violence," he said.

"I think it's terribly important, because some children don't have role models now and, with boys being naturally aggressive, they need to do something to divert it."

Hi-ya! Children are flocking to karate lessons with Sydney Lockless

Mail bag negligence

Sutton and Cheam MP Paul Burstow has accused Royal Mail of slighting local residents, after the company failed to notify customers about two mail bag thefts earlier this month.

The first incident occurred on June 12 at Station Road in Belmont, where three mail bags were stolen from one of the postman's roadside storage boxes.

Sutton's Burdon Lane was struck again on June 17, when thieves prised open a storage box and took off with two postal bags.

A Royal Mail spokesman said the company had managed to retrieve about 90 per cent of the 1500 postal items back - meaning 150 pieces were still at large.

He said the company was satisfied with the way it handled the matter.

"Most of these items were retrieved and delivered to the addressees last week, with a covering letter of apology and explanation," he said.

But he refused to confirm how the items had been recovered.

"That's something we just won't reveal - it's an internal matter which is dealt with by our own security people," he said.

According to a Sutton police spokesman, the station was not involved in the recovery effort.

Surprised that officers had not helped recoup the items, Mr Burstow said he was concerned Royal Mail was not acting in a transparent manner. "I would like to believe what they're saying - that they've recovered most of the mail, but the police weren't even involved," he said.

"So I think they have to do more than just say they have retrieved it, they have to say how they did it."

He said he also believed Royal Mail had neglected its duty of care for its Sutton customers.

Can Squirrels continue?

by SAMANTHA CAIRNS

scairns@london.newsquest.co.uk

An eco-charity faces ruin after the rent on its premises leaped from zero to £10,000 a year.

Squirrels Community Scrap Scheme has been recycling local factory materials into cheap products for the community for the past 20 years.

It supplies local schools with products that pupils use in woodwork and art and craft classes.

But Squirrels' manager, Ian Shummoogum, 68, said the charity would close if the council increase the annual rent from zero to £10,000 as part of a lease agreement.

"We were forced out of our old building because Merton Council wanted to develop a school there, so we moved," Mr Shummoogum said.

"Sutton Council told us they'd let us occupy the Ridge Road building for the first three years free of charge, so we'd leave Merton in peace. The place was dilapidated and now we've spent more than £32,000 refurbishing it."

Squirrels' business suffered because of the move, failing to build up its customer

base, which has dwindled since the relocation.

"We've lost more than 200 customers and we're struggling to survive," Mr Shummoogum said. "And now the council wants to make us begin paying the £10,000 rent each year. I'm in serious trouble and they're going to kill the business," he said.

Collingwood Primary School headteacher, Geoffrey Barham, who uses Squirrels' products for design and technology projects, said: "We find their service extremely useful. It would be a great shame if they were to close and it would go against all common sense and campaigning regarding recycling and avoiding waste."

Little Fishes Preschool manager Jan Wright added: "Lots of schools will find it hard to get cheap arts and crafts materials without Squirrels."

A spokesman for Sutton Council said, while he strongly endorsed Squirrels' work, it was time for the charity to honour its part of the agreement. "The charity signed a new 10-year lease for the premise in 2005," he said.

"The first three years of the lease were rent-free to compensate the charity for improvement works they carried out on the building."

"The charity was well aware that it would have to start paying rent as of June this year."

"We cannot underwrite organisations, even those that provide a valuable community service, and ask council taxpayers to foot the bill."

He said the council tried to help the organisation on to a firmer financial footing, by engaging environmental charity EcoLocal to offer promotions support.

"We will continue to support the charity to become self-funding and would urge residents and organisations to join and support the scheme by contacting CommuScrap-Scheme@aol.com," he said.

Obituary Notice

LEN BROWN
(Professional Gardener)

Beloved partner of Penny, Alex's devoted and very proud grandfather, treasured father of Andrew and daughter-in-law Laura. Loving father of Cecilia and son-in-law Julian. Friend to so many.

Passed away suddenly at work on Friday 27th June 2008. Many thanks to all who fought to save him.

*Not how did he die, but how did he live?
Not what did he gain, but what did he give?
These are the units to measure the worth
Of a man as a man, regardless of birth.
Not, what was his church, nor what was his creed?
But had he befriended those really in need?
Was he ever ready, with word of good cheer,
To bring back a smile, to banish a tear?
Not what did the sketch in the newspaper say,
But how many were sorry when he passed away.*

His funeral will be held at Putney Vale Cemetery, on Wednesday 9th July at 3pm.

Everyone is welcome to join us to say farewell to a truly special person.

"A True Gentleman"
ALAN D SINCLAIR
(14th August 1919-19th June 2008)

IS THIS YOUR GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY?

ANTIQUES VALUATION ROADSHOW RETURNS TO BOURNE HALL IN EWELL

IN ALMOST every home in the country there is a corner where something of value lies hidden away that could be turned into cash.

That is the message organisers of the Century Roadshow wish to impart as the company visits selected venues throughout England.

Often these items have been hidden away for security reasons but now lie forgotten, no longer of any use to their owners.

There are, nonetheless, collectors and enthusiasts willing to acquire such items and pay a handsome price to do so.

There has never been a better time to search out any items you have and bring them along to the Century Roadshow where their valuers will be happy to give you an appraisal free of charge.

On a recent roadshow an elderly gentleman had quite a surprise when producing a damaged 18 carat gold pocket watch. Although the watch was broken beyond repair, he received £420 for the gold content alone.

At the same event a lady was paid £600 for a group of WWI Medals she had thought were of little value! These are common occurrences at the roadshows.

With the many television shows featuring antiques and their values, plus the general interest in old and unusual items, antiques have never been so popular.

Now you have the chance to receive a free valuation on any item brought in or an immediate cash settlement should you wish to sell.

Free Valuations

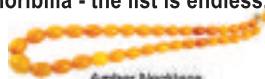

With it's free valuation service, and no obligation to sell, what is there to lose? Things to take along to the roadshow include all old and antique articles of:

Jewellery, Silver, Furniture, Clocks and Watches, Oil Paintings and Water Colours, Porcelain and Pottery, Glassware, Ivory, Bronze, Oriental Items. In fact anything interesting or unusual.

No matter how large or small your find, you may find yourself pleasantly surprised.

Collectables

These days many items are of interest to collectors. Bring along any items of Amber, Coral, Jade, Ivory Jet etc. Old Silver Jewellery and Collectables eg: Snuff & Vesta Boxes, Thimbles, Photo Frames, Cigarette & Cigar Boxes. Pottery and Porcelain: Carltonware, Susie Cooper, Poole. Whitefriars Glass. Quality Wristwatches: Omega, Longines, Rolex. Dunhill Lighters, Coin Collections, Tinplate Toys, China Headed Dolls, Decorative items, Furniture, Lamps, Carpets etc, Signed Memorabilia - the list is endless.

Amber Necklaces

Ewell Roadshow Details and Dates

The Roadshow will be at Bourne Hall in Ewell. The hall is well known situated in the center of Ewell Village. They will be there on Tuesday 8th and Wednesday 9th July 10am - 4pm. Ample public parking is available.

WHAT'S HIDDEN AWAY AT HOME?

MANY PEOPLE are unaware of the value of unusual and interesting articles they have lying around the house.

Many items are achieving record prices, but often valuable items can be left hidden away forgotten about. Many items of jewellery have become highly desirable with collectors desperate to buy them. Quality gentlemen's wristwatches are also in high demand.

Now you have the chance to discover the real value of any antique or interesting items you have, it could be your lucky day.

So take a good look around the house, in the jewellery box, in the attic, cupboards etc and bring anything you think of interest along.

OFFERS

The Century Roadshow will be in your area offering free professional valuations or instant cash offers on many antique and collectable items. So take a good look, search out anything you think of interest and bring them along to the Roadshow. You may find it's well worth your while.

If you cannot attend and would like to arrange a home appointment, please contact us on Freephone 0800 7312595 and one of their valuers will return your call

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

With HIGH prices being paid for Gold many articles have risen in value! Why not take advantage? For an up to date valuation or for an excellent CASH offer on your articles of Gold, there has never been a better time to search out and bring them along to the Roadshow:

OLD - WEDDING BANDS - SIGNET RINGS - BRACELETS - BANGLES GOLD CHARMS - CUFFLINKS - STUDS - GOLD COINS SOVEREIGNS ETC - FOREIGN AND UNHALLMARKED GOLD - DAMAGED AND BROKEN ITEMS SUCH AS: RINGS - BROOCHES - LOCKETS EARRINGS CHAINS - WRISTWATCHES - POCKETWATCHES - ETC

Silver has also risen in value so bring along items such as:
OLD SILVER PRE-1947 COINAGE - SILVER CIGARETTE CASES - CUTLERY - TEA SETS - TRAYS - BROKEN AND DAMAGED ARTICLES
 Bring along any items of interest, you will be surprised at their value.

The real home truth about the lad himself

It was the 40th anniversary of the death of Britain's best-loved comic, Tony Hancock, last week. KEVIN BARNES investigates whether his fictional home of East Cheam ever existed

Civic leaders in Norwich failed to see the funny side when the witless observations of Alan Partridge scuppered a European City of Culture nomination.

Property magnates in Slough stopped laughing when The Office TV series turned the Berkshire town into such a joke that firms avoided renting commercial space.

But in Cheam there appears to be only lasting affection for the tormented genius who immortalised the suburb in the most celebrated sitcom in British broadcasting history.

Forty years after his death in an Australian hotel room on June 25, 1968, Tony Hancock, star of Hancock's Half Hour, is still making a positive contribution to tourism in this area.

Officials from VisitBritain recently suggested Cheam as one of 150 "have a laugh" holiday destinations.

Stone me, backpackers are now being offered day trips to the milieu that inspired Anthony Aloysius St John Hancock Esq's fictional home at 23 Railway Cuttings, East Cheam.

It was here that the comic poet of suburban frustration redefined popular culture in the late 1950s and early 1960s.

Thirty per cent of the nation tuned in to watch the antics of the lugubrious loser, in his battered homburg and astrakhan collar, over six classic series.

Harold Macmillan, then Prime Minister, even lamented how affairs of state precluded him joining the nation in front of the electronic hearth.

The success of the programme, one critic wrote, was in striking a new vein of comedy, "in which situations rarely too extreme for immediate conviction existed to create the deeper comedy of character."

Modern creations such as Alan Partridge, Victor Meldrew and the Brentmeister-General have all successfully aped the quivering disappointment of Hancock.

Community leaders here are also aware of their debt to the East Cheam sage, with local Tories especially proud to share his allegiances.

"I have been thinking about this for a long time," Hancock signed in the oft-quoted The Blood Donor episode, aired in October 1961.

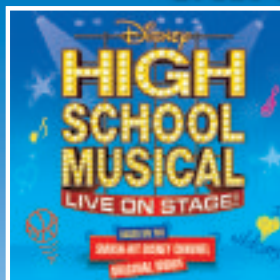

"Something for the benefit of the country as a whole. What should it be, I thought - become a blood donor or join the Young Conservatives..."

Asked for his name and particulars by a nurse at a blood transfusion centre, the lad himself replies: "Hancock, Anthony Hancock, twice candidate for the county council elections. Defeated. Hon Sec, British Legion, Earls Court branch. Treasurer of the darts team and the outings committee."

Councillor Graham Whitham, chairman of the local Conservative committee for Sutton south, Cheam and Belmont, says: "So there you have it, Tony Hancock, one of the funniest men to draw breath, was a Cheam Conservative - and treasurer of the darts team."

"As local councillors, we're really pleased Cheam has been recognised as a place to visit, especially

Famous faces: Many British comedy stalwarts appeared with Hancock on both his radio and television shows, including John Le Mesurier, Kenneth Williams, Liz Fraser, Hattie Jacques, Arthur Mullard and, most notably, Sid James, above right, who appeared in all the TV series except the last, when he was dropped by Hancock, who feared they were becoming typecast as a comedy duo given its cultural significance.

"Though not blessed with a tropical climate, sun-kissed beaches or a crystal blue surf, it can boast being home to one of British comedy's greatest legends."

Holiday-makers visiting the Mecca to their idol may be surprised they cannot withdraw whodunnits from East Cheam library or cheer East Cheam United to a 9-9 draw with Chelsea.

The dreary world brought so vividly to life by Hancock, voted the greatest British comedian in a 2002 poll, was of course pure fantasy. Or was it?

A cursory glance at Google Earth confirms that no such place as East Cheam exists. However, ancient deeds seen by the Sutton Guardian show that the parish of East Cheam was held by the Archbishop of Canterbury from the time of the Domesday Book until the 14th century.

Much larger than neighbouring West Cheam, it incorporated the manor at Gander Green Lane and the area north of Cheam Road.

In 1575 the parish, with West Cheam and Nonsuch Palace, fell into the possession of the Earl of Arundel, and became a hideout for the Catholic gentry. Only then was Cheam reunited and East Cheam largely airbrushed from history.

The place name was revived briefly in 1800 when East Cheam Manor passed to Philip Antrobus, and he built a new mansion, Lower Cheam House, on the storied site.

The Antrobus was later made baronets during the Napoleonic wars.

A heritage officer for Sutton Council says: "In about 1826, Sir Edmund Antrobus created a large and magnificent Chinese drawing room, with wallpaper brought from China by a ship's captain - this may have been the locally-born Captain James Killick, whose family lived nearby in Whitehall."

"Certainly the wallpaper was a great talking point and so valuable that when the house was eventually demolished, the wallpaper was removed from the walls first."

It was no accident East Cheam finally re-emerged from the typewriter of Ray Galton and Alan Simpson, scriptwriters for Hancock's Half Hour.

The duo met just after the Second World War in a TB ward and knew the suburban setting was perfect to skewer the doomed aspirations and pretensions of the middle classes.

Simpson recalls: "I was living in Mitcham and Ray was living in Rosehill. We were trying to think of where Tony Hancock would live."

"What we tried to think of was a posh area. Our ideas of luxury in those days were Sutton and Cheam and Nonsuch Park."

"When Hancock came to be interviewed, he said, 'I live in Cheam'. He added East Cheam to say he lived in the posh part."

"And when they asked for his address, he said '23 Railway Cuttings', which was really supposed to be the worst part of Cheam, to kill it."

What is Motability?

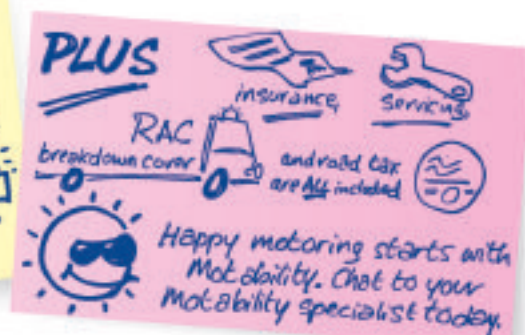

Motability is a national charity that was set up in 1977 to provide disabled people with mobility in the form of cars, powered wheelchairs and scooters. Today the scheme is responsible for 5% of all cars, wheelchairs and scooters sold in the UK through a national network of over 3,800 Motability dealers. So how does this highly popular service work?

Here we concentrate on cars, although the process is similar if you choose to finance a powered wheelchair or scooter through the scheme.

If you receive the Higher Rate Mobility Component of the Disability Living Allowance or the 'War Pensioners' Mobility Supplement, getting a new car is easy and affordable. Through Motability, you simply turn part or all of your allowance into the car of your choice. There are no waiting lists or credit checks to contend with and no assessments are required. There are two ways to obtain a car, Contract Hire or Hire Purchase.

The most popular option is 'Contract Hire' where you'll gain a new car of your choice every three years, insurance and personal accident cover for named drivers and passengers, servicing and maintenance by your Motability dealer and full breakdown assistance from the RAC. And, that's not all because you will also receive an annual tax disc sent directly to your home (except in Northern Ireland or the Isle of Man), 45,000 miles mileage allowance over three years, free replacement tyres fitted by Kwik-Fit, window or windscreen replacement at no extra cost, one-stop customer helpline and help with transport (where possible) when your car is being serviced or repaired.

Motability's worry-free policy continues right to the end of the three-year contract with a seamless transfer to another new car. Customers can choose from over 3,000 different models from their local dealers so it is no wonder that 97% of customers would be happy to recommend the Motability scheme. The vast majority of manufacturers offer cars under the scheme so to find out more about Motability, its various schemes and the many current deals offered, you only have to visit your local Motability dealer.

Epsom Coaches News

Summer 2008

No fuel surcharges at Epsom Coaches

Epsom Coaches will not be applying fuel surcharges to any of its holidays or day excursions in 2008, despite the recent steep rise in diesel prices. Epsom Coaches has a 'No Surcharge Guarantee', which also protects against currency fluctuations. Many other coach tour operators do not have such a guarantee and are already applying increases to the price of their holidays, including well-known national companies. Airlines have been applying fuel surcharges for some time.

Steve Whiteway, Commercial Director, commented 'we use 6000 litres of fuel per day for our bus and coach operation and obviously the fuel price increases we have seen are a major concern. However our relationship with our customers is paramount and we believe that the price you see in our brochure should be the price you pay for your holiday.'

Winter and Spring Brochure is Published

Epsom Coaches have just published their Winter and Spring 2008/9 brochure, which includes the Festive Period and Easter. There are five Christmas and two New Year holidays; full of fun, food and festivities! There are some superb breaks before Christmas including popular 'Turkey and Tinsel' breaks and visits to continental Christmas Markets. There are several new breaks to enjoy including a visit to the spectacular Birmingham International Tattoo and a tour to the Lakes and Dales to view the Autumn colours.

The brochure also includes our holiday selection for the Spring. We have five different breaks at Easter, which is in April in 2009. Favourite Spring breaks include the Dutch Bulbfields and you can view this blaze of colour by coach or on our popular cruise. We have repeated our tour to Lake Garda and next year will be staying at the excellent Parc Hotel Gritti. We have also repeated our holiday by air to Madeira to enjoy the wonderful Great Flower Parade. There is a £20 per person discount for all internet bookings in this brochure. Whatever your choice, book early, as these breaks are sure to be popular!

Alistair Scott Wins Top Award

Alistair Scott has won Coach Tourism Manager of the Year at a recent awards ceremony. Alistair is Product and Marketing Manager of the holidays division at Epsom Coaches. The Coach Tourism Awards are considered the top honours in the coach holiday business, and winning is the ultimate accolade. The holidays division of Epsom Coaches last year enjoyed a record year; much of this is attributed to their unique door-to-door service whereby customers are brought from their door to Epsom's acclaimed departure lounge at their headquarters. The judges were also particularly impressed that Epsom Coaches have readily embraced the internet.

Alistair said 'although my name is on the award, it is very much a team effort at Epsom Coaches; the Directors, Sales Staff, Operations Staff and Drivers are all dedicated to creating the finest coach holidays.'

Epsom Coaches were also finalists for two other awards, UK Holiday Programme of the Year and Coach Tourism Brochure of the Year.

Congestion eased as borough primary pupils walk to school

by JAMES PEPPER

jpepper@london.newsquest.co.uk

Hundreds of school children took to the streets last week as they were encouraged to ditch their normal car journeys to school.

Thirty-four primary schools across Sutton took part in Walk to School Week, increasing the total amount of walkers across the borough by 12%.

The knock-on effect meant traffic congestion, caused by the school-run mums and dads, was dramatically reduced.

It also allowed parents time to enjoy a leisurely walk home with their child, rather than a hot, stressful and congested journey.

It is hoped the week will encourage a change in behaviour by parents who insist on driving their children to the school gates even though they live close by.

to School week competition for the highest overall percentage of walkers at 94 per cent.

But the highest percentage increase of walkers was at Homefield School where 70 per cent walked to school compared to the usual 45 per cent. Both schools will receive a £100 book voucher from Smarter Travel Sutton.

Sutton is one of the first London boroughs to have every school with an approved travel plan to encourage children to use methods of getting to and from school other than the car. Since 2006, the number of pupils walking has risen by 2.6 per cent.

Councillor Colin Hall said: "While many children live within walking distance of school, blocked roads and congested school gates are an all too familiar site in our borough.

"Encouraging more parents, pupils and school staff to walk is vital if we are to cut congestion and make the roads around our schools safer".

Walk this way: Manor Park pupils Oliver Locke, James Morgan, Lewis Nelson, Tara Morbin, Amir Al Uzri, Raessa Patel and James Grindrod

More homes to join food waste trial

Mole Valley District Council is so pleased with its food waste trial it is to extend the scheme to another 1,400 houses in the north of the district.

Almost 4,000 householders took part in the original scheme which has seen 30 tonnes of food waste per month diverted from landfill.

Residents were all given two containers, a small kitchen caddy and a larger bin to store cooked and raw food waste which was collected each week in a special vehicle and sent for composting.

The trial, which is now being funded by the council, will continue for another year.

The council initially won funding from the Waste Resources Action Programme (Wrap) to carry out the project.

Councillor Jean Pearson, portfolio holder for environment and sustainability said: "The success of the food waste trial is a great credit to all residents taking part in the trial and their ongoing commitment to recycling their food waste.

"We are impressed by the amount of additional waste being diverted away from landfill."

Top Tip

□ Do your nearest young street tree a favour, give it a few buckets of water every now and then. There should be plenty of rainwater you can collect in your garden now the Wimbledon Tennis Championships have started. Alternatively, you can use any water left over from doing the dishes.

The Big Picture

□ The state of Florida has announced a landmark deal with the US sugar industry to buy 187,000 acres of farmland that would be used to restore the pristine wetlands of the Everglades national park.

The health of the park has suffered greatly in recent years, hurt by pollution generated by sugar farms that lie in the centre of the ecosystem.

ECONews

BACK TO NATURE: Two of Sutton's nature hotspots will be open to residents this weekend to try and encourage engagement with the local habitat.

The Spencer Road Wetland Day and the Warren Survey Day, both on July 5, will give local people an expert overview of the areas.

Norman Jones will guide people around the Spencer Road Wetland. The area is one of three London sites that will see the reintegration of water voles in the next couple of years. The Warren Survey Day is being organised by Hendryk Jurek.

He said: "We are trying to get the public more engaged with their local surroundings. The day will involve surveying the area and looking for wild flowers such as Grass Vetchling and Marjoram."

Both events start at 11am.

TIME TO NOMINATE: Another reminder to get your nominations and entries in for the Green Guardian Awards.

Anyone can enter or nominate and the categories are as follows: Green Champion, Young Environmentalist, Green Primary School, Green Secondary School, Green Project, Green Household, Green Building and Green Business.

Winners will go forward to the South London awards to be held at Epsom Racecourse in November.

The closing date is September 22. Visit www.greenguardian.co.uk and click on Awards, or call Hannah Weston on 020 8744 4223

A

Each week we will ask a question on a Green related subject. This week:

How much edible food is thrown away by the average UK household in a year?

Last week's answer: During the past 45 years, about a quarter of British hedgerows, an important habitat for animals and plants, have been destroyed, at a rate of about 4,000 miles (6,400km) a year.

Put your best foot forward

As the warmer weather approaches we look out our summer clothes, not to mention those lovely strappy sandals.

But what about those poor feet, trapped for months in ill-fitting shoes and airless boots or trainers. Unsightly corns, callus and ingrowing toenails can spoil the whole illusion.

Registered podiatrist Neil Andrews said: "Looking after our feet is always important, and conditions like Tinea Pedis (athlete's Foot) – a fungal infection – and verruccas should be treated immediately. Over-the-counter remedies can be effective but if the condition persists you should consult a podiatrist.

"Small amounts of callus, or hard skin, especially on heels, can be reduced by using a pumice stone immediately after a bath or shower; however, a large build up of callus needs professional treatment, as do corns. Wash your feet regularly and change your socks daily, preferably wearing cotton socks to absorb perspiration and allow the skin to breathe.

"Use a moisturising cream such as E45 especially on the soles and around the heel to keep skin in good condition and prevent cracking but avoid the space between the toes as this can lead to an increased risk of Tinea Pedis."

Centuries of healing

With a history dating back to the 300BC, today Chinese medicine is successfully used for a wide range of conditions and can be used by people of any age. Chinese herbs are very safe when prescribed correctly by a properly trained practitioner and can address a wide range of disorders including eczema, acne, irritable bowel syndrome, pre-menstrual syndrome, asthma, bronchitis, sinusitis, rheumatoid arthritis, cystitis and even depression. Below is one person's account of how Chinese medicine helped her.

"Since the age of 16 I had suffered from period pains and insomnia. Each month, two days before and during my period I had to take strong painkillers and lie down. It is hard to describe the severe pain and heavy bleeding I was experiencing, which lasted for seven days. Halfway through the month I would feel extremely exhausted and would have no energy to socialise, play sport or do housework. When I started university, I struggled to study.

"One of my friends introduced me to Dr Shen at Chinese Herbal Medicine. Dr Shen took my pulse and examined my tongue, then explained that I may have cysts or fibroids in my ovaries or uterus. Amazingly I have had a scan to prove I had polycystic ovaries, which were causing the heavy bleeding.

"Following the consultation, she prescribed a raw herbal formula and herbal capsules to treat my polycystic ovaries and anaemia. After the first month, I felt 30 per cent better, and in the second month my energy gradually improved. Now in the fourth month of treatment, I have no pain before and during my period at all, and am full of energy. I am so glad I saw Dr Shen as now I can do all the things I couldn't do before. I strongly recommend seeing her."

Fast track to better fitness

If you want to get in shape but don't want to spend hours at the gym then Richard Ham-Williams, pictured above, has the answer. He runs a personal training business in Epsom and understands how many of us want to get in shape in the minimum time possible.

"Honestly, when it comes to exercise I want to spend as little time doing it as possible. That is not to say that I don't enjoy it or that I don't work hard – it simply means I would rather spend my spare time in other ways without letting workouts take over my life," he said.

"Workouts should last no longer than 30 minutes," he says. "Time in the gym should be spent on the most productive exercises, working the body as completely as possible. Everyone wants to look good, feel good and be as strong as needed to allow their confidence to stay elevated."

And he added he can help clients reap the same benefits he has in as little as two 30-minute sessions each week.

Have a happy, healthy holiday

After all those months of pasty skin, who wouldn't be in a hurry to get a five-minute tan? But sitting out in the sun for hours at a time not only increases your risk of melanoma, it can also cause skin blisters, severe burns, and that very unenviable look of a bright red Brit on holiday.

"What generally happens on holiday is that people eat too much, drink too much, and then pass out in the sun and turn bright red," warned Dr Wendy Denning, who runs an integrated medical clinic (thehealthdoctors.co.uk).

"If you know you'll be going out in the sun, take some vitamin E, selenium and betacarotene supplements in advance, as they've got natural sunscreens in them, and wear cream of at least SPF 30 (Sun Protection Factor).

"A lot of people think that if they're swimming they don't need any sunscreen, but just because you're in the water doesn't mean you're protected – the water actually reflects more light onto your skin."

Dr Denning recommends drinking at least two litres of water a day, and soothing sunburn with calendula cream or aloe vera gel. If, however, your sunburn has turned into blisters, be careful with the delicate skin. What you don't want to do is break the blister. "Try and protect the skin and seek advice. You don't want the blister to get infected."

Heat rash is another hazard holidaymakers often face. If you're in a hot or humid climate, this is probably due to the fact that you're sweating more than usual: the sweat is actually blocked underneath the skin, which causes the rash. "If you do develop a heat rash, avoid the sun, avoid sunscreen, eat lots of fruit and vegetables for the antioxidants in them, drink lots of water and cut out strawberries, nuts, alcohol, coffee, and red meat as they could all make it worse," said Dr Denning.

The gentle answer to easing back pain

Chiropractor Patrick Malloy of Chiropractic Health explains how acupressure can be used to ease back pain.

"Back pain sufferers may have noticed a recent article in the press announcing that acupressure is 'the best treatment for back pain'.

"A research study, carried out in Taiwan and appearing in the British Medical Journal, concluded that this type of therapy produced superior results in chronic back pain, when compared with conventional physical therapy. "Researchers found that acu-pressure resulted in an '89 per cent reduction in disability.' The effect was not only seen in the short term but lasted six-months. Encouraging results, but of course further research is needed.

"Acupressure involves gentle manual release techniques applied to specific points on the body, corresponding to the points used in acupuncture. No needles are used.

"At Chiropractic Health, we employ a wide range of methods to relieve spinal pain, including the modern derivative of acupressure, Pain Release Technique.

"This method uses acupressure type methods to gently and effectively release the areas of tension that trigger pain and discomfort in the body.

"Many patients report rapid and lasting relief from conditions such as back pain, neck pain, headaches, hip and shoulder pain.

"New patients undergo a thorough examination to determine the precise nature of their problem and assess their suitability for treatment. An individual treatment program can then be devised, the aim being to achieve lasting improvement as quickly as possible.

"Until July 10 we are offering readers an opportunity to have a free consultation designed to determine if our treatment methods can help you. These procedures normally cost £35. This is a great opportunity to find out more – you have nothing to lose but your pain!"

No More Big Butts

Statistically women tend to lose weight from the top down. This research fact has been known for many years. Recently researchers from the Surrey Institute of Clinical Hypnotherapy have shown that women which hang upside down for 15 minutes one hour after eating their evening meal will actually lose weight from their thighs, hips, stomach and buttocks first, when combined with the Surrey Institute of Clinical Hypnotherapy's already successful Slim-from-within programme; which includes the Hypnotic Gastric Band therapy. This helps the client control their weight easily without having to think too much about their food intake. Amazingly the women in the trial were easily able to lose weight from the lower half of their body whilst maintaining their chest size. Jenny Armour, who has been on the research programme for only 4 weeks, said "I was amazed! Normally my boobs are the first to go, even if I went to the gym and only worked on my lower half. Now I have lost 2 inches off my thighs, and nearly 4 inches off my bum and nothing off my chest. It felt a bit odd the first few times I was upside down but I soon got used to it."

Paul White from the Surrey Institute said "If the above were true there would be women hanging from door frames around the country. However our Slim-from-within programme helps the client change their relationship towards food. It changes the way they relate to food, how they view food and even their desire for certain food groups. Girl denied place at school next door

A mum is calling for reform of the school's application process after her daughter was refused a place at an Epsom school even though she lives next door.

"Silly woman, everyone knows how useless the bureaucratic pen pushers are, simply lie to them every time. On the off-chance they had discovered the lie chances are it would have taken them until your daughter had completed University to actually do anything about it."

Bob Cheam

I think some local authorities enforce this one more rigidly than others, though. Was there not a case recently of a local authority using anti-terrorism laws to justify their use of CCTV to check up on school catchment areas? Can't remember which local authority it was, but I think we can be pretty sure it wasn't Surrey County Council.

Pete Surbiton

Well good luck with that one my son went to Stamford Green School and I now wished he had gone else where but at the time that was the only school to have places we had moved into the area from up north although I was born in Epsom.

Warning over card scam

Epsom residents are losing thousands of pounds in an elaborate credit card cloning scam, the Epsom Guardian can reveal.

On the 7th June, 2008, got a phone call from my bank saying my bank card had been cloned and someone had tried to draw cash from my account in the Philippines I was lucky that my bank never let it happen this time but know of a lot of people that have been done

More put off by yobbish behaviour at the Derby

I totally agree with the letter from William Gazy in the Guardian (June 19) berating the drunken yobbish behaviour of a huge section of the crowd at the Derby.

I too attended the Derby, taking with me a friend who had never been before. I was shocked to see such disgusting behaviour from not only young men, but girls and older men too. Loud, disgusting language was the norm as we quickly made our way through the crowds in an attempt to get out and get home. I used to attend Derby day when it was held on a Wednesday and found it far more enjoyable, maybe it should go back to that Wednesday slot. Something surely must be done by next year's Derby to stop this kind of behaviour escalating.

A CLARK Epsom

Rosy view

We too went to the Epsom Derby - it was great. We have a different viewpoint from that of Mr Gazy.

We wove our way through the crowd and eased our way to the rail. Here we met a very pleasant couple of ladies who had travelled from Kent for their first Derby visit. A younger lady with whom we chatted wanted suggestions of names for her newborn baby son, and next to us a young man - drink in hand - insisted I should have his chair for a while. None of these people even remotely resembled the description as prescribed by Mr Gazy's jaundiced viewpoint.

Did he notice all the people having family picnics and the children playing ball games? If Mr Gazy visits the Derby again I suggest that he pays for a taxi from the station so that he can arrive at the Queen's stand without having to mix with all of us.

Safer neighbourhood team is tackling issues

I am writing in response to your article dated 15 May regarding video footage of youths on the Longmead Estate.

Your article implied that no contact had been made between Surrey Police and the woman who reported the incident to us. This is not the case.

Officers from my Safer Neighbourhood Team made efforts to link in with the lady after she contacted Surrey Police. Although face-to-face contact was unsuccessful your article gives readers the impression that no action was taken by Surrey Police, nor had my officers even attempted to speak to her, until after your paper intervened.

My officers are in contact with the lady and enquiries into this incident are ongoing. The youth captured in the footage has been identified and dealt with by the Neighbourhood Specialist Officer.

I appreciate residents living in Longmead are concerned about anti-social behaviour and I would like to reassure the community that my team and I are committed to tackling this issue.

Report of air quality should not be sensationalised

I write with reference to the front page article, Fuming, which featured in the Epsom Guardian 12 June 2008. I was very disappointed with the tone of the story which gives a misleading view about the air quality levels in Ewell High Street.

The content of the air quality article is mostly correct however I was extremely concerned with the sensationalised nature of the report. The air pollution levels in the area are not endangering the lives of our residents and they are not "being subjected to an alarming rate of poisonous fumes" as stated.

By saying the gas is "deadly" or "poisonous" is not only incorrect but implies that Ewell High Street, which was identified by Epsom & Ewell Borough Council as an Air Quality Management Area almost a year ago, has pollution levels which are far higher than actually recorded.

The annual average recording for 2007 was 49 microgrammes per cubic metre at one site on Ewell High Street whereas a second site nearby recorded an average reading of 38 microgrammes per cubic metre. Although one level was above the national annual objective of 40 microgrammes per cubic metre, it is not an unusual situation when compared with similar roadside urban areas. Air quality readings can vary depending on time of year, meteorological conditions, traffic levels and analytical variations.

According to government experts, adverse health effects for short term exposure are insignificant, even in the most vulnerable groups, below a threshold of 380 microgrammes per cubic metre.

The sites are being monitored closely and the Council has been taking regular readings from these two sites and further sites situated around the Borough. More detailed real-time monitoring will take place in the coming months specifically on Ewell High Street.

I note that in the same week this particular article was printed, two letters appeared in the letters page which had to set the record straight following previous incidents of inaccurate reporting.

COUN CHRISTINE LONG Chairman of Epsom & Ewell Borough Council Social

Rosebery's reputation

I read with horror the article about the posting of an inappropriate phone video on YouTube by pupils at Rosebery School in Epsom.

However, my horror was not directed towards the pupils whose behaviour was, indeed, deplorable. They have, no doubt, been appropriately disciplined by the school. What raised my blood pressure was seeing yet another article whose purpose appears to be to taint the reputation of a well-respected local secondary school. I know young people who attend Rosebery who are saddened and confused by your paper's apparent intent to blight the entire school for the behaviour of a handful of girls.

As a past pupil and now a parent of a child who attends, I know that the school has strong leadership and continues to provide girls with an excellent education. Rosebery certainly does not deserve the attentions of journalists who appear determined to bring it's reputation to the ground.

Further, I would like your reassurance that the paper acted responsibly in at least one area and checked that the video had been removed from YouTube before publishing the article which, amazingly, contained the name of the clip.

Consulting the Capital

Those who participated in Healthcare for London: Consulting the Capital have had brief notification of the results. Whereas over 10,000 people attended their meetings across London, 5,000 of those did not consider the plans were worth voting for. In the whole of greater London and Surrey there were only 5,000 responses. Of these, almost 400 were from organisations undoubtedly having their own vested interest not necessarily in line with the views of the public. Hence, less than 0.05 per cent of London residents replied.

Compare that with a protest rally in Epsom in July last year where over 5,000 residents gathered and voted no to the changes and closures. This was approximately 1.6 per cent of the local residents. A similar rally in Sutton and Carshalton produced the same result.

This shows more about public opposition to the changes than Consulting the Capital which attracted a relatively minuscule number of responses. Can such a paltry number of response justify the proposed unworkable and unwelcome schemes?

YOUR GUIDE TO ALL THAT'S DELICIOUS

Wine and dine

Put some sparkle in your life

If money was no object – and my liver was made of cast iron – I'd drink champagne every day. Like the oft-quoted Lily Bollinger, I'd drink it when I was happy, when I was sad, when alone or with company, writes Lucu Corry. It was easy enough for her though – with a cellar of France's finest fizz at her disposal she could have used it to brush her teeth. For the rest of us, sparkling wine – the fizzy stuff that doesn't come from the venerated Champagne region – is a perfectly good alternative.

While there's some excellent sparkling wine now being produced in England, you'll have to look further afield if you want to buy a bottle of fizz and still get some change from a £20 note.

My tried and true sparkling favourite couldn't come from further away if it tried. The widely available Lindauer Brut Cuvee and Lindauer Special Reserve consistently win awards for their big, toasty flavours. No self-respecting Kiwi would consider any kind of celebration – or commiseration – without a bottle of Lindy. The Lindauer range usually costs between £7.99-£9.99 and is often on special, so it's worth seeking out a good deal and buying it by the case if you've got some serious partying planned. Marks & Spencer also has the very good and quite similar Bluff Hill Brut, also £7.99.

My other top Kiwi fizz is rather more expensive, but you won't regret splashing out on a bottle of Pelorus NV, from the makers of the Cloudy Bay range. It's available from Sainsbury's for £16.99, or you can buy two bottles from Majestic for £12.99 each (usually £19.49).

Closer to home are the host of Spanish cava and Italian proseccos now synonymous with summer. Wannabe wine snobs often look down their noses at Spanish fizz but they don't know what they're missing. The elegant Codorniu Reserva Raventos (around £9.49 at Sainsbury's, Majestic and Oddbins) should silence their whining.

For a more pocket-friendly option, try Marques de Monistrol Vintage Cava 2005 (usually £8.99, down to £5.99 at Tesco until July 8, or available at Sainsbury's for £5.49 until July 1) and Gran Campo Viejo Cava (Sainsbury's and Threshers, £6.99).

Personally I find prosecco a little underwhelming – maybe it just tastes better when a bow-tied Venetian waiter delivers it – but plenty of other people feel differently. The delicate Tesco Finest Bisol Prosecco NV (£9.49) comes from vineyards halfway between Venice and the Dolomites and should transport you at least out of your grubby front garden and into the park.

Try this recipe: soak a sugar cube in Angostura Bitters, roll it in cayenne pepper and place it in a champagne flute, then top with sparkling wine. It might sound ghastly but this is actually a fabulous party starter.

Lindauer Special Reserve and Brut Cuvee. The Lindauer range usually costs between £7.99 to £9.99

The week ahead

Jazz it up

David Stradwick's Sussex Jazz Kings serve up another evening of New Orleans Jazz at Epsom Playhouse next week, with everything from classic to revival courtesy of Dave on trumpet, John Howlett on trombone, Bernard Stutt on clarinet, Phil Durell on banjo, Graham Wiseman on bass and John Hall on drums. Monday, 8pm, 01372 742555.

Audition time

Mayhem Musical Theatre Company is holding auditions for its Seussical the Musical show at the Secombe Theatre, in November. They are looking for two children of either gender to play Jojo, the child with a wild imagination (playing age is 12). Auditions take place at St Lawrence's Church Hall, Morden. Saturday, contact Elinor on elinorhoward@btconnect.co.uk or 07944 630213 to arrange a time.

Don't miss

Corner Gallery in Carshalton Beeches presents its first exhibition since its recent opening. Shaukat Khan is the artist behind You Don't Bring Me Flowers, a 30-piece watercolour collection from the Canterbury/Malaga-based painter. Until August 16, corner-gallery.com

Booking ahead

There may be some of tomorrow's stage and screen stars starring at Epsom Playhouse next week, when senior members of the excellent Dorking Academy of Performing Arts present Pippin The Musical. The group already includes Harry McEntire, who plays Pippin. Harry made his film debut this year in Clay alongside Imelda Staunton. From next Thursday, 01372 742555.

Pride of place

EVENTS:
Take Part,
Take Pride,
various venues

Paul Fleckney

Sutton's Take Part, Take Pride community festival returns this year with a bang, promising about 100 events across the borough that will cater for all manner of tastes.

The festival runs from Monday, July 7 and continues until Sunday, July 13, building on the success of the previous two years by embracing the borough's diversity instead of solely focusing on environmental issues.

So whether it is art, music, dance, exercise, nature and the environment, history, food, gardening or films, there is something to appeal to all ages and interests.

And it all kicks off with a performance in the Millennium Gardens by the wonderful Sutton Subrang – the borough's cultural school of Indian dance, music, Gujarati and Hindi languages. Another highlight will be a premiere of the latest film by Bend

It Like
Beckham
director
Gurinder
Chadha –
Angus Thongs
and Perfect Snogging. This charity screening is two weeks

ahead of its UK general release and all profits will go to the mayor's charity – the Royal Marsden Hospital Children's and Adolescent Unit, Sutton.

You could spend the weekend dipping your toes in the sand at the RNLi's beach party in Sutton High Street, enjoy a Middle Eastern breakfast in Cheam, take in the borough-wide Sutton in Bloom gardening contest, or maybe the Pirates Fair held in Cheam.

Perhaps you think you could be the next Leona Lewis. If you are over 16, then next Sunday (July 13) could be your chance of fame, as the S Factor hits Sutton High Street's main stage. Show off your singing prowess between 6.45pm to 7.15pm (book your spot by calling 020 8770 6096).

You could also follow in Spain's footsteps last week and achieve European sporting glory with the 12th Carrom Euro Cup, which is being held at Sutton in August.

The game originated from billiards more than 150 years ago, perhaps in India, China, Yemen, Ethiopia or Zimbabwe. For now, you can pick up some tips or get an introduction to the game through the free lessons which will be held from Monday to Saturday (July 7-12) in Sutton High Street, 10am to 2pm.

Leader of the Council Sean Brennan is understandably proud of this year's imminent Take Part, Take Pride.

He says: "I'm very encouraged to see how many Sutton residents and companies have signed up and volunteered. This is a fantastic opportunity for them to showcase their skills, share their experiences, and help to build an even better community."

Full details of all the events are available from sutton.gov.uk/takepart-takepride, call 020 8770 5070 or email takepart@sutton.gov.uk

A Diamond performance of Grimm tales

We all think we know Grimm's Tales but what we probably recall are the pantomime and Disney versions.

However the real thing is very much darker, as the youngsters in the Carshalton-based Croft Drama group will show with a four-night fundraiser this week.

In their 16th annual fundraising production,

THEATRE:
Drama For Diamond,
Charles Cryer

Paul Fleckney

this year in aid of the Diamond Centre for Disabled Riders, the group is exploring both a traditional approach and a noughties take through drama, verse and mime

The tales include not only old favourites – Hansel and Gretel, Ashputtall (Cinderella), Snow White and Little Red-Cap (Riding Hood) – but also the less well-known, but nonetheless entertaining, stories of The Three Sillyies, The Hare and the Hedgehog, The Table, The Donkey and the Cudgel, The Golden Goose, and The Bird, the Mouse and the Sausage.

Alternative versions include Little Red Riding-Hoodie, by performers aged seven to 18.

The group aims to raise at least £1,000 to continue sponsoring Smokey Joe, a grey gelding at Carshalton's Diamond Centre.

So it is certainly worth seeing characters eaten alive, heads chopped off, a Queen dance herself to death, wolves die, witches cooked alive, and mice and birds drown.

Drama For Diamond by Croft Drama; Charles Cryer Studio Theatre, 39 High Street, Carshalton, July 4-7, 7.30pm, £8.50/£6.50, call 020 8770 6990.

D'Arcy back for more at GuilFest

Guilfest must love D'Arcy and D'Arcy certainly loves Guilfest.

Cheam's fine melodic rock quartet is gearing up to play the three-day festival for the third time in recent years, which puts them on the bill with the likes of Blondie, the Australian Pink Floyd Show, Fightstar, Howard Marks and Kula Shaker.

"It is the only real festival we do," says vocalist Ashish Dharsi, "so it's different from all our other gigs."

"It is more local for a start and we will be playing to more people – there could be a lot of people crammed into a tent.

"In a way, it is better as people will stop by if they are passing and stay if they like the sound of it, so you are playing to lots of new people."

"With our gigs we have our mailing list and we kind of know who we'll be playing to."

The band has kicked on since Radio 2's Janice Long took them under her wing after hearing their demo EP and invited them in for a live session and interview – and how many unsigned bands get heard on Radio 2?

This exposure spawned industry interest, of course, and some suits will be watching them closely at Guilfest with a view to a possible contract, and this year should see the release of their debut album.

So who will the boys be checking out over the weekend?

"Little Man Tate are really good – I'll try to see them. I like Royworld, they have had a song in the charts recently, maybe Blondie on the Saturday, Seth Lakeman, too – there are some interesting acts this year."

"We are playing the Anderton stage on Saturday but might do a few acoustic sets on the acoustic stage as well."

Chase some rocking times

Famous five:
The Chase
Marianne Harris

It is the biggest Stagefrite so far, with the Chase headlining Wallington Halls this Friday.

The quintet – endorsed by Radio 1 Rock Show's Daniel P Cartel – are sure to be playing tracks from their latest EP, The Glamour and the Shame, which was produced by Jason Wilcock (Fightstar, Ghost Of A Thousand and Ruben).

The band have been touring heavily this year, right across the country from Southampton to Middlesbrough, and their Wallington gig comes shortly before the climax of the tour on July 12.

That night, they play the famous Borderline club off Tottenham Court Road where everybody from Jeff Buckley to members of the Stones have played.

The Chase will be supporting

Who's who?

I am a 28-year-old solo artist. I play guitar and my Gibson J45 is the work horse but I have just snapped up a bargain Gretsch in New York.

Sound/influences

Acoustic rock – I'm recording parts for my album all over the place with a handful of different producers. I think it is sounding like a cross between Grace by Jeff Buckley and The Bends by Radiohead – and lots inbetween! I used to go by the rule that, "If I can't play it live, then it doesn't go on the album".

Where do you play?

The Hospital Club – Covent Garden, The Old Queen's Head – Islington, The Bedford – Balham.

Industry interest?

Quite a lot at the moment. My manager also manages KT Tunstall and he's busy introducing me to a guy with all the deals. I have an offer from Jay-Z's new label, Roc-Nation, which seems fantastic although it doesn't really feel right. I am delighted I have the luxury of being able to choose my own path.

Any singles/EPs/albums

At the moment, I am busy writing and recording for my debut album.

Claim to fame

Beyoncé Knowles is singing one of my songs! It's called Once In A Lifetime and it is going to be the lead track from her movie about Etta James. I also wrote a track called Red which is being covered by Daniel Merriweather and Mark Ronson.

Band focus

Scott McFarnon

Most rock'n'roll moment?

Getting wasted on a free bar backstage at a Kasabian gig and chatting utter rubbish with Noel Gallagher and Ian Brown. Quality!

What's your dream?

I want to play Brixton Academy. When I've sold enough albums, that's the place I want to have packed to the rafters.

Fantasy festival?

Led Zepellin, Rage Against The Machine, Jimi Hendrix Experience, David Bowie, Radiohead.

Song I wish I'd written

River Man – Nick Drake. Utterly timeless.

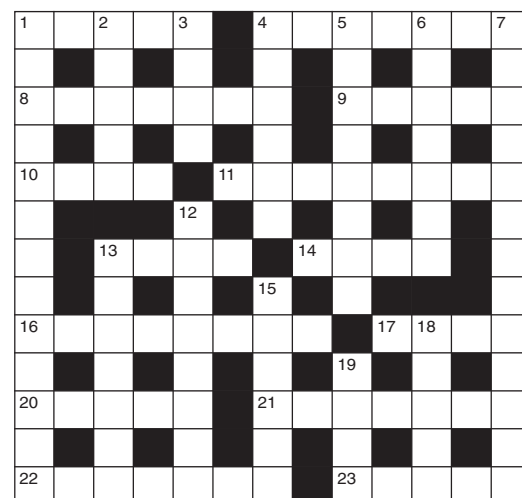

Anything else?

myspace.com/scottmcfarnon for tracks, videos or gigs.

Club A2Z

St Andrew's Badminton Club

Who are they?

This friendly badminton club has more of a heritage than many in the area - it has tournament records going back nearly 70 years. Its main base is at St Andrew's Church, Northey Avenue, Cheam, where its 50-odd members play in Aitken Hall and Miles Hall.

Summer nights

Monday and Tuesday are the nights for the club's summertime sessions, winter club nights are on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays. There is no club in August, and September is something of an open day for those who might want to play casually or perhaps join as a member.

The young ones

During winter (September to March), the club runs a junior section on Saturday mornings, which is split into three groups depending on age and ability. They are the C section (beginners/ages seven-11) the B section (intermediate/11-14) and the A section (14-18). Junior tournaments have also been running since 1960.

Interested?

If you would like to try your hand at badminton or roll back the years on the court then call Neil Bartlett on 01372 811535. The club is particularly interested in having more women along. One-off visitor fees are £4 per night. Visit standrewsbadminton.co.uk/

Competitive spirit

Members who are keen to play competitively can join the Sutton and District League, while internal club tournaments are also common, some running the length of a season, some decided in the space of one night.

Summer sounds

Hippy shake: The Zen Relics brighten up Epsom

You don't have to sit about in a field cloud-dodging to catch some great sounds this summer. This July and August, Epsom's Ebbisham Centre will be hosting a summer of free live music concerts, with two bands performing from 6pm to 9pm every Thursday.

This two-month-long event gives 18 talented performers and groups a chance to appear live on stage in a series of concerts showcasing everything from opera to glam rock. Bands confirmed to appear include Sidewinder, the Zen Relics, Andalus, and an Elvis tribute rounding things off on the last Thursday in August.

This is the fifth year of live music being held during the summer months and everyone is warmly welcomed to attend any of the free gigs during the massive nine-week event.

Visitors can enjoy food and drink from a variety of restaurants offering Thai, Italian, tapas, Indian or bar snacks and listen to some top local musicians free of charge. And, even in bad weather, performances will still go ahead in one of the venues around the square, although under-18s will not be allowed into the bars due to licensing restrictions.

Music at the Ebbisham Centre, 6-7 Derby Square, Epsom, Thursdays 6pm to 9pm, 01372 846800, theebbishamcentre.org.uk

Health Promotions Resource Manager

£24,270 - £31,347 inc

Wandsworth Teaching Primary Care Trust is responsible for improving the health of a diverse population of around 30,000 people in south west London. We have a budget of £305 million to provide and commission a wide range of health services delivered in clinics, health centres, surgeries, people's own homes and at Queen Mary's Hospital, Roehampton. We support and develop the work of 50 GP practices and employ over 1,800 people.

The post holder will be part of Wandsworth PCT, Public Health team and will be based at Public Health, Health Promotion Resource Service, Ground Floor Teak Tower, Springfield University Hospital, 61 Glenburnie Road, Tooting, London, SW17 7DJ.

The Public Health Directorate is one of 5 directorates in Wandsworth Primary Care Trust and aims to enable local communities to achieve a healthier life and live longer by protecting health, preventing disease and promoting health and well being.

We are looking for an enthusiastic, keen person with a flexible disposition who will work together with other Public Health advisers, health promoters from statutory, voluntary, independent groups and organizations to develop and maintain a high quality Health Promotion Resources Service for Wandsworth.

The Health Promotion Resources Manager will have excellent written, verbal communication and interpersonal skills. The post holder will manage the day to day running of the service, contribute to service development including ordering, cataloguing resources and enabling multi disciplinary, multi agency access to the service. They will be required to identify gaps in current information and resources whilst meeting the changing needs of Wandsworth's diverse community. The post holder will have responsibility for managing a budget and the Health Promotion Resource Development & Campaigns Officer and other staff as necessary. The post holder will be expected to design, implement and maintain library and administrative systems to ensure the efficient functioning of the service and to represent the service in decision making at key stakeholder events and influence service development accordingly.

WANTED! TRAINEE PLUMBERS

Due to serious skill shortages we need practical, keen applicants to take around 70 days intensive City & Guilds plumber and NIC gas training usually around current commitments and to then join one of our associated plumbing and construction companies. On fully completing the training course you become a full City & Guilds Qualified Plumber and can also apply for Corgi Registration and be one of the UK's highest qualified new plumbers.

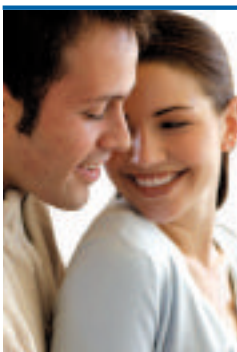

No previous plumbing experience is necessary. You train at our £2m, state-of-the-art Building Trade Skills Centre for Southern England near London which, at 45,000sq.ft, is the largest in Europe. Training is subject to an interview and contribution towards subsidised training. This is an exceptional opportunity for you to gain a lifetime skill in plumbing with guaranteed employment on fully qualifying. Plumbers on average now earn £25,485 a year but, with experience, income could rise to £40,000 a year.

Volkswagen pleads the fifth amendment

The fifth generation Volkswagen Golf aims to distance itself from the family hatchback competition with higher quality, lower prices & an air conditioned specification. Andy Enright checks it out...

Twenty years ago, the Volkswagen Golf was an inexpensive, no nonsense car that ran and ran. Nowadays however, Volkswagen has loftier aspirations for its fifth generation staple family hatchback.

In the standard three and five-door hatch range, there's a choice of two trim levels – S and Match. The Match level that many customers choose looks particularly tempting thanks to a leather steering wheel, cruise control, automatic headlamps and wipers, a trip computer, a multi-function steering wheel, an MP3-compatible CD stereo, 15" alloy wheels and a full complement of body-coloured exterior addenda. Need more practicality? Volkswagen offers the Golf Plus and the Golf Estate. Aside from the entry-level 80PS 1.4-litre engine, petrol buyers have the choice of a 1.4 (90PS) or a hi-tech turbo-charged 122PS TSI engine. Diesel buyers can opt for the proven 75PS SDI engine or the slightly more modern 105PS 1.9-litre TDI power-plant. If you want something sportier, then the GT Sport series offers a choice between 140 or 170PS versions of the 1.4-litre TSI turbocharged/super-charged petrol engine or 140 or 170PS 2.0-litre TDI diesel units. Prices start at £18,120. The next step up is the GTI series, where as you'd expect, the pace hots up a little more. Here you get the superb 200PS 2.0T FSI engine at prices starting from £20,825. Of course, if the GTI models don't do it for you, there's always the option of the range-topping R32. Here you get a 248bhp 3.2-litre V6 with the 4MOTION transmission system. At the other end of the economy scale is the BlueMotion derivative which eeks maximum economy and minimal emissions from the 1.9-litre diesel engine.

The styling is evolutionary rather than revolutionary insofar as most will know it's a Golf they're looking at without recourse to clocking the badge on its rump.

The fifth generation marks probably the biggest evolution in the Golf's

INDUSTRY CALLS FOR TRANSITIONAL MOTORCYCLE TEST ARRANGEMENTS AS TEST CENTRE FIASCO LOOMS

The Motor Cycle Industry Association (MCIA) has today called for the Driving Standards Agency (DSA) to agree to introduce transitional arrangements for motorcycle licence tests, as the date for the introduction of a European regulation looms.

On September 29th the motorcycle test is changing to introduce new manoeuvres required under a European Directive. The DSA has chosen to implement the directive by concentrating motorcycle tests at about 60 planned multi-purpose test centres (MPTC) around the UK. Currently there are around 260 motorcycle test centres and the DSA plan slashes this number by 80%.

The MCIA call has been prompted by the disclosure this week that only 17 test centres, nationwide, have so far been constructed ahead of the major changes in September. In an email from the DSA seen by the MCIA, the DSA admits that only 38 test centre sites have been acquired, and that "construction has been completed at 17 sites nationwide."

Parliament is also concerned about the issue, with questions and a debate tabled by MPs, who are becoming alarmed about the huge geographical gaps in test centre coverage around the country. This will make it very difficult for motorcycle test candidates to find a suitably located test centre.

The MCIA's Craig Carey-Clinch said: "Although we are highly concerned by such a huge reduction in test facilities, the industry has been keen to work in partnership with the DSA to make the new measures work and improve bike safety.

"But enough is enough. It is becoming increasingly clear that the promised 60 test sites are unlikely to be delivered by the deadline, with huge gaps in coverage across the country. The net effect will be to add to the expense and difficulties that these European laws are already bringing to novice motorcyclists.

"Ironically, safety could also be compromised if candidates are forced to ride long distances to their tests. Many will be physically and mentally drained - hardly conducive to performing well on the test, and potentially very dangerous.

"The industry is now calling for transitional arrangements. It is entirely acceptable under the new regulations to have motorcycle-only test centres, not multi-purpose test sites. Specific manoeuvres in the test can also be redesigned so that a larger range of sites can be used.

"It is extremely telling that only the UK has chosen to create vast and expensive test sites. Belgium for example will be using a test site which is approximately a quarter smaller. This mess has also been partly created because the UK did not argue for a derogation, allowing 50kph manoeuvres to be completed at 30mph - a difference of only 1.06mph. This would have allowed the new test to be conducted on existing facilities or on the highway, as is happening in many other European countries.

"The slashing of test centre sites to about 60 was always going to create problems, but with only four months to go before the test changes, we are shocked that only 17 have been completed. Even if the DSA manages to complete the 38 sites that have been acquired, this will still leave a huge shortfall. The message is clear: now's the time to take your test, before the system descends into chaos."

The disclosure that the DSA is so far behind in its programme of new test sites, throws more weight behind the MCIA's campaign calling on people to take their bike tests now while they can still be tested at a 'local' test centre under existing test procedures. Called Now's the Time, full details and guidance on how to get a full bike licence are at www.takeyourtestnow.com.

WAYNE HARRIS

A FUTURE TRACK STAR IN THE MAKING?

Wayne Harris is a motorcycle racer based in West Ewell who competes in the British Motorcycle Club Racing Championships. He races in the Mini Twins Series which involves bikes with twin cylinder 650cc engines. Wayne favours a Suzuki SV650.

It is a tough sport for those who compete with many more lows than highs. Wayne has had his fair share having broken his shoulder in a race accident last year. He has had a slow start to the 2008 Championship and after three events is still awaiting his first points of the season.

The British Motorcycle Club Racing Championship is contested over 10 events at tracks all over the UK and includes a round at Croix in France which is Wayne's next event. At his last race at Silverstone Wayne's bike suffered some mechanical problems which resulted in him starting 40th on the grid for race 2. Yet, with some determined riding in wet conditions he worked his way up the field to come in 25th by the end of the race.

Wayne is now looking to put some points on the board at his next event in France and kick-start his season.

Good luck Wayne.

Bike Insurance Made Easy - an insurance solution for smaller bikes

Motorcycles and scooters of 125cc and under have been growing in popularity of late thanks to the environment and financial benefits they afford. The problem is that the rapidly expanding number of models available in this sector has been difficult on these bikes are frequently turned away because their model is not listed on the Association of British Insurers database. Leading motorcycle insurance provider Bikesure is hoping to solve the problem with a new scheme through which it can offer insurance for bikes not currently on the database.

Helmet Safety Ratings - a new system to rate crash helmets for safety

Crash helmets are a crucial piece of safety equipment but how safe is yours? Soon you'll be able to find out with the help of the Safety Helmet Assessment and Rating Program (SHARP) which is due to publish its first results in the Spring. The Department of Transport scheme aims to test every crash helmet currently on sale giving each a rating between one and five stars for its performance. Different products can then be directly compared by consumers while manufacturers will be encouraged to improve safety standards.

Bladeday2 not to be missed - Honda to celebrate 16 years of its superbike in style

Honda is gearing up for a massive event that fans of its awesome Fireblade superbike will not want to miss. Bladeday2 takes place on Friday 23rd May at Donington Park to mark 16 years of the Honda Fireblade. Around 5,000 enthusiasts are expected at the event which will feature attractions ranging from stunt riders to celebrity appearances and technical clinics run by the Honda Institute. Admission is £10 but the under 16s go free.

MOTOR RACING: Effingham's Jack Clarke slipped a place to fourth in the Henderson Formula Palmer Audi Championship after the latest two races at Oulton Park on Saturday. He crashed out of his first race on the opening lap but bounced back to claim his first victory of the season in round 10 after a ruthless move to overtake championship leader Jason Moore. "I am bit even sure if there was enough room to make that move, but I wanted it so badly," said Clarke. Rounds 11 and 12 are at Brands Hatch on July 26 and 27.

ATHLETICS: Sutton & District strengthened their position at the top of Senior Division Two of the Southern Women's League with a win at Battersea Park on Saturday.

Result: 1 Sutton & District 112.5; 2 Haverling, Mayesbrook 102.5; 3 Met Police 58; 4 Belgrave 40.

BOWLS: Epsom Bowls Club's men and ladies both had great results against Godstone on Sunday. The men took five points from a 108-51 success while the women beat the champions of the past two years 43-34. Meanwhile, Eileen Mills has reached the semi-final of the Surrey Women's Championship singles and Gill Sperring the semi-finals of the county Champion of Champions singles. Graham Pibrow beat Cheam Fields' George Hope 21-17 in the Paston Cup.

BOWLS: Results from round four of the Tons League: Wallington 41 Sutton 36, Banstead Neville 40 Cheam 26, Mellows Park 38 Rosehill 24, Cheam Fields 44 Cheam Village 26, Carshalton Beeches 38 Sutton Common 19, Cuddington 40 Carshalton 24.

Table (after four matches): 1 Wallington 22, 2 Sutton 16, 3 Mellows Park 14, 4 Cuddington 14, 5 Rosehill 14, 6 Carshalton Beeches 14, 7 Banstead Neville 12, 8 Carshalton 10, 9 Cheam 8, 10 Cheam Fields 8, 11 Cheam Village 6, 12 Sutton Common 6.

ATHLETICS: Sutton Runners' Martin Newton came 25th in the Dulwich Park 5km race, clocking 18 minutes 19 seconds.

BOWLS: Cheam Bowling Club's Keith Atkins, Ted Bennett and David Self beat Sutton Common in the Arthur Hughes triples. Meanwhile, Cheam ran out 83-41 winners over Malden & Coombe in the Yonwin Cup.

BOWLS: Rose Hill hosted the Sutton & District B.A. to celebrate the clubs 75th anniversary. It was a close game, each side winning two rinks, with the District edging the result by six points. The club thanks the District players for a very enjoyable match and looks forward to a re-match in 2033! Rink 1: Rose Hill: Don Davies 15, S&D B.A. Thomas 20 Rink 2: Keith Graham 23 M.Gray 21 Rink 3: John Melham 18 D.Ansell 24 Rink 4: Derek Brien 20 B.Footter 17

CRICKET: Woodmansterne first XI recorded their third straight Fullers Surrey County League Division Two win on Saturday, overcoming Carshalton & Croygas by two wickets. Woods restricted Carshalton to 194 in 50.1 overs. Their reply stuttered but Chris Vagg (75) and Rikrul Patel (17) saw them home.

Bal still master of Banstead Woods

South London Harriers' Pawel Bal recorded his eighth victory in 10 attempts in Saturday morning's Banstead Woods 5km time trial.

Bal clocked 16 minutes 38 seconds to finish 42 seconds clear of clubmate Chris Phelan, with Epsom Oddballs' Matt Donnelly, on his event debut, a further seven seconds behind in third.

Rachel Burbridge of Kingston & Polytechnic (19:56) made it 10 wins in 11 attempts ahead of Reigate Priory's Laren Lloyd (22:09) and Stragglers' Alison Linter (22:25).

Stu dashes to Dysart win

Winner: South London Harriers' Stuart Major David Rowe

Banstead insurance official Stuart Major, three-time winner of the event, claimed the Surrey 10km road running title on Sunday morning.

Major took time to impose himself on a field of almost 500 in the Dysart Dash.

By the end of the first of the two laps over a mixture of roads and the Thames tow-path, Major, the winner in 1998, 2002 and 2006, was out in front by being chased by a relative novice, John Gilbert, 28, who was competing in only his third race.

Even Major was unclear as to who his unexpected challenger was as the pair went into the second half of the race.

It was only in the final mile that Major's experience tilted the race his way as he sprinted home in 32 minutes 42 seconds, just eight seconds ahead of Gilbert.

Dorking & Mole Valley's Nick Hodges was third (33:01) and Stragglers' Jimmy Goulis fourth (33:15).

Pat Wright was Tadworth AC's first finisher.

The 23-year-old finished 17th in 35 minutes 10 seconds, leading Tadworth men to 11th place in the three-to-score event.

He was backed by Dave Williamson in 69th (39:27) and Geoff Newton in 83rd overall and second man over-60 (40:18).

Other Tadworth runners: 174 Nick Mabbott 44:31, 189 Alan Matthews 45:26, 330 Stephen Robinson 51:38, 336 Mary Matthews 52:06, 369 Roland Hogg 54:42.

Sutton Runners women came

by TOM POLLAK
sportslondon.newsquest.co.uk

fourth overall with the men 10th.

Luis Gomez led their men, finishing third veteran over-40 in 35 minutes four seconds, while Vicky Foad was their first woman (41:28).

Other Sutton Runners times: Martin Giles 37:01, Jim Mundy 42:00, Andrea Francis 44:36, Neal Richardson 45:17, Ian Owen 45:36, Lauren Jones 45:56m Penny Hubbard 47:16, Mark Aldred 47:39, Anita Hedges 49:22, Michaela Moher 1:04.48.

● Major also won the second of the summer's informal 10km races held on Farthing Downs, near Croydon.

He clocked 35 minutes five seconds, to finish one second ahead of clubmate Pawel Bal.

Epsom & Ewell's Phil Sanger was third in 36:00.

The next Informal 10km on Farthing Downs will be on Thursday, July 31 (7.30pm).

● Collingwood AC trio Andy Stalley, Melanie Johnstone and Allan Rumbles took part in the Herts Hobble on Sunday.

The event consisted of three out-and-back loops of 11, eight and seven miles across the Buntingford countryside in Hertfordshire.

Stalley was the first Collingwood runner home in a time of four hours 27 minutes.

Rumbles finished 40 minutes later, while Johnstone came home in a time of 5:25.

All three used this race as training for the London-to-Brighton cross country race in October.

Lenny's back on track and seeking title

by SIMON FITZJOHN
sfitzjohn@london.newsquest.co.uk

Carshalton's Lenny Daws is targeting more meaningful fights after returning to the ring in style on Friday night.

Daws earned a comfortable if tough, 10-round points decision over durable Frenchman Mihaita Mutu at Bethnal Green in his first bout back after suffering an ear infection.

And the former British lightweight champion is gunning for some title action.

Daws said: "I will be studying Barry Morrison and David Barnes when they meet for the British title this week."

"I am not sure if I will be able to go straight in with one of those – I may have to have an eliminator first."

"But this fight has put me in good stead, whatever happens."

Daws enjoyed a solid workout against Mutu before getting a 100-91 verdict.

Working behind a strong jab and moving well, the 29-year-old was rarely troubled.

He added: "It was a good, tough 10 rounds. He was a tricky opponent – he kept changing tactics and moving."

"I did feel slightly rusty and I was overreaching at times."

"But I felt comfortable with the pace as the fight went on."

"I was doubling up with the jab – one shot wasn't going to be good enough."

Daws is eager to climb back through the ropes again having been out of action since last November, but he insisted he would not be rushed.

"I will have a little breather now and I expect to be back in three to four months," he said.

"This was another learning fight for me – I learned a few moves and I tried out a few things."

"I feel good and I feel strong. It is all onwards and upwards from here."

Saturday's matches: Cheam v Old Emanuel, Old Whitgiftians v Epsom.

Division Three: Leatherhead & Cobham 164-8 (M Joblin 86 not out) winning draw v Warringham 184 (N Field 71). Worcester Park 240-5 (R Bell 114, J Hill 56) beat Cranleigh 75 by 165 runs.

Saturday's matches: Chessington v Leatherhead & Cobham, Worcester Park v Egham.

Division Five: Chipstead Coulsdon & Walcottians 190-1 (M Birrell 107 not out, S Hurst 73 not out) beat Oxted & Limsfield 189-8 by 9 wickets. Wallington 197 lost to Valley End 263-3 (P Williams 116, D Redwood 86) by 66 runs.

Saturday's matches: Chobham v Chipstead Coulsdon & Walcottians, Dorking v Wallington.

Bell shines in Park win

Rob Bell blitzed a century to crush Cranleigh and give Worcester Park the perfect tonic ahead of Saturday's clash with leaders Egham.

The skipper cracked 114 off 130 balls in a 113-run stand with Joe Hill (56) as Park racked up 240-5, easily their highest total of the season.

Spinners Aidan Bell (3-29) and Nicky Ball (2-25) then reduced the visitors to 37-5, clearing the way for Chris Brassington (2-4) and Joe Hill (2-9) to wrap up a 165-run win.

Park can now go top this weekend if they beat Egham and Chessington fail to win.

Meanwhile, the second XI will be glad to see the end of June after a 120-run defeat to Farnham, their third loss in four outings in the month.

But the thirds are up to third in Division One after a 10-wicket win over Caterham, who were skittled 68, skipper Chris Jackson claiming 6-43.

Mike Byford (21 not out) and Dave Kempton (35 not out), mindful of Park's below-strength batting line-up, took their time to knock off the runs but secured the win off 28 overs.

Beddington went down to a four-wicket defeat to Walton-on-Thames on Saturday.

Having elected to bat, they lost wickets at the wrong times as they slipped to 115-6.

It took a 62-run seventh-wicket stand between captain Antony Down (60) and Dan Baker (34) to keep Beddington in the hunt, as they reached 209-9 from the maximum 60 overs.

Down's direct hit produced a runout on the first ball of the Walton innings, before Cowlin took a wicket to make it 5-2.

But Walton recovered thanks to a sixth-wicket stand of 81 between Mark Bainbridge and Neil Driscoll.

Beddington host Brook this weekend.

There was more bad news on Sunday as Beddington went out to the Evening Standard Cup with a 27-run defeat at Bishops Stortford.

Sutton squad full of energy

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Sutton United's pre-season training may be only one session in but player-coach Steve McKimm has revealed the players are already keen to kick off the campaign.

The 32-year-old midfielder cast an eye over the squad at the club's new training ground on Tuesday night, as United stepped up preparations for the coming Ryman League Premier Division campaign.

Manager Paul Doswell has brought in 14 players in the close season, and starts the pre-season programme with a trip to Croydon Athletic on July 15.

McKimm reckons the squad are championing at the bit.

"Everyone just wants to get on with things and play," he said.

"No one likes pre-season training. It is there to get you fit and then it is about playing friendlies to do the rest. It is as simple as that."

The balls can wait: Sutton United players at their first pre-season training session this week. Deadlinexix Nina Katinka Fredriksen SP21671

McKimm was pleased with the condition of the players, which he hopes can give the side a headstart.

"We trained enough. There is no point going mad early on because you can pick up injuries," he added.

"People have kept themselves in shape over summer, which makes it easier to get everyone used to working together."

Sutton United have drawn Ryman League Premier Division new boys Tooting & Mitcham in the first qualifying round of the FA Trophy on October 18.

Manager Doswell and club chairman Bruce Elliott host a question and answer session with fans tonight at Gander Green Lane starting at 8pm.

Fulham get kids active

Fulham FC's community sports trust have joined forces with Greenwich Leisure Limited to improve youngsters' football skills.

After-school, weekend and holiday training will be offered at the Rainbow Leisure Centre in East Street, Epsom, inspiring local children to stay active.

The scheme was successfully trialled in Brixton last year.

Russell Findlay, head of FFC's community trust, said: "The impact we have is due to the great partnerships we develop locally with organisations like GLL, as well as our committed community team – helping young people achieve educationally and make a positive contribution."

Cheers as sports club gets £41k

Something to cheer: The Palace Crystals at Wallington Sports Club Carol Ramsey

Wallington Sports Club have unveiled a £41,000 refit thanks to grants from the Surrey Youth Service.

The tennis club's head coach Paul Weaver launched Sunday's open day at Hill-side Gardens, having received £26,000 to revamp grass courts and resurface existing hard courts.

The cricket section was awarded £15,000 for new nets, a bowling machine, a slips cradle and team bus.

Sky the limit for cricket servant Peter

Sutton Cricket Club's Peter Edwards has been honoured for his outstanding work in the community.

He received his award from Sky Sports commentator Nasser Hussain at The Oval to mark the contribution he has made in his 30 years with the club.

It is the second year that Sky Sports has held its reward and recognition scheme as part of its sponsorship of coaches' development.

Edwards was instrumental in helping the club gain the ECB's clubmark accreditation.

A Sky Sports statement said: "Peter has excellent leadership skills and effectively deploys his team of coaches throughout the age groups while ensuring a non-discriminatory child friendly environment.

"An inspiration to the club's young players, he takes pride in directing and helping their game mature.

Nasser Hussain of Sky Sports presents Peter Edwards from Sutton with his award Getty Images

"The consummate professional, Peter successfully manages to balance an increasingly heavy workload while effectively distributing his time between his family and Sutton CC's youth development program."

SURREY COUNTY CRICKET UPDATES

Crash hinders Gino's efforts

Epsom rider Gino Rea bounced back from a heavy crash in qualifying to finish a creditable ninth in the San Marino stage of the European Superstock Championship.

Rea spun coming out of the final turn in the last qualifying session, badly damaging his number one bike in the process.

The crash forced him to start the race from 12th on the grid, and despite moving up the deficit was too much for Rea to haul himself into the points.

He said: "I am disappointed with the result, to be honest.

"The crash in qualifying was a big one and we had to replace the whole front end of the bike for the race.

"On a positive note, I have kept seventh in the championship and the next race is at Brno which is a track I like so, hopefully, I will be back challenging for the podium there."

Epsom pack a mighty punch

Surrey's smallest borough, Epsom & Ewell, provided the victorious U13 team in the Surrey Youth Games at Pool in the Park, Woking.

Harry Green clocked 29.87 seconds to finish three seconds clear in the 50m freestyle final, after winning his heat by a huge margin.

Lucy Archer-Lod won a close-fought girls' 50m freestyle final in 31.28.

Jason Ball was first home in the 50m breaststroke in 40.59.

Green also anchored Epsom to a narrow victory over Spelthorne in the medley relay.

Epsom's U15s also won, while the U14s came joint third.

Strong running: Epsom College's Jordan Burns

Epsom duo given invite to nationals

by CORINNE MUNFORD

sports@london.newsquest.co.uk

Epsom College athletes Alex Aves and Jordan Burns will represent Surrey in the English Schools Championships at Gateshead in July.

Alex has been selected for the 80m hurdles and Jordan will compete in the triple jump after leaping 12.31m in a recent inter-counties match.

Hugo Coleman also gained selection after setting a college record of 43.99m in the javelin in the same match, but will be unable to take part after breaking his hand.

This news came on top of further success for the college's athletics teams in the second co-ed match of the season last weekend.

Epsom recorded a 92-point overall win despite being deprived of 15 of their leading athletes, who were away on Surrey representative duty.

The college's senior, U16 and U15 boys' and U16 girls' teams won their competitions, while the U15 girls were third and the senior girls fourth.

The final results table saw Epsom first on 474 points, Caterham second with 382, Brighton third with 363 and Eastbourne fourth with 357 points.

The Epsom College B team came fifth overall, with Manor House sixth and Cranleigh seventh.
